Husband Faces Court On Wife Murder Charge

CZESLAW (CHESTER) PUPKOWSKI
. . . charged with murder.

CECELIA PUPKOWSKI
. . . found dead in home.

Man Saved From Sea Under Special Guard For April 3 Hearing

Czeslaw (Chester) Pupkowski, 42, 128 Clarence Street, showed no sign of emotion when he was formally charged in city police court here today with the pocket-knife murder of his 38-year-old wife Saturday afternoon.

The blondish-haired, Polish-speaking immigrant heard the charge through interpreter Eugene Felter. He was represented by lawyer Joseph McKenna.

He stood in the prisoner's docket with hands clasped behind his back.

The charge read he "did unlawfully murder Cecelia Pupkowski." He was remanded until Tuesday, April 3, when date of the preliminary hearing will be set. He is being held in an upstairs cell at city jail, under special guard.

Pupkowski had been released from an observation ward at St. Joseph's Hospital the day before the killing. He had been admitted for a few days.

City detectives charged Pupkowski at 9.30 p.m. Saturday, seven hours after his wife was found lying in a pool of blood at the family home in James Bay.

She had been beaten about the head and her throat was slit, police said.

Police seized a pocket knife.

Minutes after police arrived at the James Bay home, Pupkowski was pulled from waters off Dallas Road.

A bystander quoted Pupkowski as saying "shoot me" to one of two officers who pulled him from the water.

Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart has ordered an inquest into the death for Wednesday at 10 a.m. at Thompson Funeral Home, 1625 Quadra.

Police said an autopsy is being performed on the woman's body by Dr. Ross McNeeley.

Screams . . . Then Deathly Quiet

First hint of the gruesome murder came shortly after 2.45 p.m., when next-door neighbor George Warwick heard loud screams coming from the Pupkowski home.

"I had just opened our garage door when I heard a woman screaming," Warwick said.

"I went in the house and telephoned police. I went back outside and everything was quiet.

"About two minutes later I heard a loud thumping sound coming from the house.

"I must have looked up after hearing something shortly after, for I saw Mr. Pupkowski hurrying past with blood all over his face.

Warwick followed the man. Pupkowski hurried toward the waterfront by way of Clarence, Niagara and South Turner Streets.

Warwick said he followed the man to Dallas Road, where Pupkowski broke into a run toward the strait.

'I'm Going to Die, Anyway'

Three lads on the beach shouted at him as he ran onto the beach and into the water. He yelled back:

"No, I'm going to die anyway!"

A man on the beach shouted for him to "come out!"

"I want to die," Pupkowski answered.

Pupkowski was clinging to a log, which was anchored to the beach, when police Constables Joseph Barlow and Ian Duncan arrived on the scene.

The two constables walked out on the log, grabbed the man by his arms and pulled him to shore.

Pupkowski was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital, where he was placed under sedatives and held under police guard.

He was later removed from hospital, questioned by detectives and charged with murder.

At the murder scene, Constables Robert Mair and James Baxter were first to arrive.

They found that both the front and back doors to the home were locked.

They entered through a basement door at the rear and found Mrs. Pupkowski lying in a pool of blood near a stove in an upstairs kitchen.

Dr. E. L. McNiven attended and pronounced the woman dead.

The Pupkowski's son, Milo, 8, was away from home at the time.

He was spotted by police as he rode his bicycle during the investigation at the house. He was immediately taken in and cared for by the Children's Aid.

The 80-member White Eagle Polish Association here, to which most Polish-born residents of the city belong, is expected to take steps to help the boy.

Association President Alex Bednarski said the group would meet "later this week to decide what we can do for him."

The Pupkowskis never belonged to the White Eagle organization, and members knew as little about the couple as their neighbors on Clarence street.

Mrs. Robina McGirr, 80-year-old pensioner, rented a room with the Pupkowskis. She was strolling in nearby Beacon Hill Park when the tragedy occurred.

Mrs. McGirr said the house had always been quiet and peaceful.

Neighbors said the man was quiet and rather unfriendly.

HOUSE OF DEATH

Peaceful-looking home in which Mrs. Cecelia Pupkowski was found dead Saturday was the object of thousands of thrill-seekers over the weekend. "This street has never been so busy," one resident remarked. The house was locked and placed under police check.

3-Nation Talks Open Today

St. Laurent, Mexican President Meet Eisenhower in Virginia

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent arrived here today for the start of conferences with President Eisenhower and President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines of Mexico.

He was accompanied by R. Douglas Stuart, U.S. ambassador to Canada; John Holmes, assistant undersecretary of state for external affairs, and Pierre Asselin, Mr. St. Laurent's private secretary.

External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson left by train Friday for Washington, and will meet the prime minister at White Sulphur Springs. Mr. St. Laurent declined to make a statement on his departure from Ottawa. "Because," he said, "I probably will have something more to say after the meeting."

NO AGENDA

Mr. St. Laurent, Mexican President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines and Mr. Eisenhower did not bother to work out an agenda for the talks. They have told their respective nations that the two-day session was arranged as a friendly get-together and a chance to chat about current affairs more than as a formal conference.

Mr. St. Laurent changed to a U.S. Government plane at Charleston, W.Va., for the 40-minute flight to White Sulphur Springs.

Mr. St. Laurent will return to Ottawa immediately after the meeting. He is expected back on Wednesday afternoon.

Political experts generally agreed that one of the topics certain to be discussed would be North American defense, and the progress so far achieved through joint participation.

15 Planes Seeking Lost Jet

A total of 15 aircraft took part in the search today for an RCAF T-33 jet trainer missing from Comox air base since Thursday noon.

Three Lancasters took off from Comox at 7 a.m., and two Expediters, two Dakotas, three Cansos and an Otter left Sea Island base at 9 a.m. An additional two Lancasters and two Expediters left Comox shortly after 9 a.m.

The search has been intensified in the Cortes Island, east of Campbell River, area, since residents confirmed reports by tugboat crews of a "terrific" explosion and "roar like thunder" Thursday noon in the vicinity of the island.

In the plane were FO Gerald Stubbs, formerly of Winnipeg, and FO James Miller, whose parents live in Victoria. FO Stubbs served with the RCAF from 1942 to 1946, then re-enlisted in 1951. His wife and two-year-old daughter live at Comox. They are expecting another child next month.

JORDAN IN ARAB FRONT?

LONDON (UP) — Jordan has linked itself with the Arab "Big Three" military alliance against Israel under a "united frontier" plan with Syria, Middle East dispatches reported today.

The report came as the United Nations security council planned to take up an American proposal for "urgent and early" action in the Mideast, probably by sending secretary-general Dag Hammarskjold on a peace mission to the dangerously tense area.

U.S. to Tell All on Arms If Others Do

LONDON (UP) — The United States proposed today that all nations obligate themselves to give each other advance notice of international movements of their land, sea and air forces.

The American proposal was the third major suggestion put before the United Nations five-power disarmament conference now in session here.

The American plan would require the United States to notify the Soviet Union, for example, before sending any of its bombers abroad to a NATO field. Likewise, the Soviet Union would have to give notice before sending an armored division, say, to Poland or Hungary.

Nations sending out submarines would give notice of where they were headed.

The war traffic control system would clear all information through three or four master communications centres at agreed locations around the world. In these centres, officials of an armaments control system would be able to plot all international movements of armed forces—just as a railroad controller pinpoints positions of trains.

U.S. delegate Harold E. Stassen outlined the latest plan to his colleagues from Britain, the Soviet Union, France and Canada as the conference entered a second and perhaps decisive phase with optimism still high.

SOCRED SEES SUBTLE SIGNIFICANCE

Devil Is at Queen's Ear On Canadian Paper Money

OTTAWA (CP).—The devil is at the Queen's ear on Canadian currency, Social Credit MP John Credit MP, said today.

Finance Minister Harris told the Commons the defect already was being corrected.

Outside the Commons, Mr. Blackmore folded a $10 bill at the Queen's left ear. Caricatured in the curls of her hair is the face of the devil.

Mr. Blackmore wondered whether it was intended, for some subtle purpose, to indicate the devil has the Queen's ear. He did not believe it was just a freak of the beauty parlor.

The portrait for the engraving was by Karsh, Ottawa photographer. The portrait appears on Canadian bills of all denominations—$1, $2, $5, $10, $20, $50, $100 and $1,000.

Bills from the new plates won't be in circulation for a year.

WIRE BRIEFS

Nehru Meets Red

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Anastas Mikoyan, Soviet first deputy premier, opened talks here today with Prime Minister Nehru on Russian economic aid for the industrialization of India.

B.C. Cows Get Shots

MILNER, B.C. (BUP) — A compulsory but free campaign of calf vaccination against brucellosis has been announced here by Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan, who envisages a province free of the disease within five years.

Viceregal Plane Lands

CAMBRIDGE BAY, Victoria Island (CP) — Governor-General Massey landed here today to continue his 17-day, 10,000-mile air tour of the Arctic. (See page 2.)

Winnipeg Winter Ends

WINNIPEG (CP)—It sure was a long winter. The thermometer crept up to a balmy 41 degrees above zero Sunday, the highest reading in Winnipeg since Nov. 10.

TV Hassle Wounds 2

TORONTO (CP) — Findlay J. Kennedy, 45, of suburban York township Sunday night was charged with wounding his wife and 19-year-old son with a slaughter-house knife in an argument over their television set.

Fire Razes Hotel At Hazelton; 5 Escape

HAZELTON, B.C. (CP)—Five persons fled to safety when a $50,000 fire destroyed the 45-year-old, two-story Hazelton hotel and all contents Sunday night. Damage was estimated at $50,000.

One unidentified guest was forced to jump from a second-story window. The others got out safely through the lobby. No one was injured.

Top Red in Stalin's Town Fired Because Students Played Hookey

MOSCOW (AP)—The chief Communist organizer of Tiflis University in Stalin's native Georgia has been fired for failing to indoctrinate students properly with communism and for not curbing their intense pride in their separate Georgian nationality.

This was disclosed in the March 24 issues of the Tiflis newspaper Dawn on the East which reached Moscow today.

The firing of the university Communist cell's party secretary, S. Djorbenadz, was revealed in an article which also said that the students had indulged in mass cutting of their classes in Marxism-Leninism and dialectical materialisr since last September.

The newspaper said the students organized into groups and went to the movies instead of the classes while teachers "lectured in virtually empty auditoriums."

The paper said that since the beginning of 1955 "there were 176 registered cases of students' breaking rules of Socialist order and some of the students were punished and, for instance, 41 students were detained by the police during the first 2½ months of this year."

Tiflis is the birthplace of Stalin, who now is under attack by present Kremlin leaders.

EX-RED SURE REVOLT UNDER WAY IN RUSSIA

WASHINGTON (AP)—A former Soviet intelligence officer says the Russian leaders' denunciation of Stalin is a desperate attempt to retain their power. It indicates, he said, "the revolution has already begun."

Nikolai Khokhlov, who defected to the West in 1954 after 13 years in the Soviet intelligence service, says the 20th congress of the Soviet Communist Party in February "openly and publicly confirmed that dictatorship cannot exist any longer in the Soviet Union."

They Should Have Told Us Stalin Was a Heel, LPP Moans

TORONTO (CP) — Stewart Smith, leader of the Ontario Labor-Progressive Communist party, said today Joseph Stalin would have been condemned "long before this" if Canadian Communists had known the truth about him.

Asked for comment on the denunciation of the former Russian leader at the recent 20th congress of the Russian Communist party, Mr. Smith said he had no doubt the reports were true.

Nikita Khrushchev, the Russian party secretary, told delegates that Stalin had been responsible for mass murders, purges and costly blunders.

The Ontario Communist leader said the charges were a re-evaluation of Stalin as a leader.

"We Communists here didn't know the truth about Stalin before. If we had known we would have condemned some of his tactics before now."

SPLIT BY SWITCH

Local Communists were reported split over the abrupt switch in the party line. Tim Buck, Canadian Communist leader, attended the Russian congress. Communist organizers were said to be waiting for his first-hand account of the meeting.

At the time of Stalin's death, Buck said:

"If the people of Canada realized what they had lost in Stalin, tears would flow in the streets."

New Bid at Ottawa For Coast Guard

OTTAWA (BUP)—A perennial plea for a Canadian coast guard service will go out to the government again today.

Members of parliament have been urging the government to form coast guard services in the Great Lakes and British Columbia for several years.

Ontario Conservative Wallace Nesbitt (PC-Oxford) planned to put in a strong claim for the Great Lakes service when he leads off debate on a resolution to this effect. British Columbia members also were expected to have ample opportunity to mention their own claims while joining in the general debate.

The government has been lukewarm toward forming a coast guard.

Transport Minister George Marler told Nesbitt in one debate that a further review of the matter had been made and it was decided not to establish the service.

Marler said it would cost more than $9 million for the initial capital outlay for coast guard facilities on both coasts and the Great Lakes.

In any case, he said, the air force undertakes basic search and rescue responsibilities, and the navy and such ship-operating department and agencies as transport, fisheries, public works, mines and the RCMP all help in the work.

Top Skaters Charge 'Fixing'

TORONTO (CP) — Frances Dafoe and Norris Bowden of Toronto, the world pairs figure-skating champions for two years, said today Canadian skating officials impeded their chances in international competitions. They placed second in both world and Olympic events this year

Miss Dafoe, a 26-year-old free-lance artist, criticized Herbert Crispo of Toronto, president of the Canadian Figure Skating Association, for refusing to send a second judge to the Olympic and world skating competitions this year.

She said Crispo "did everything in his power to impede and reduce our chance in Olympic and world competition."

The Toronto couple said world competitions are "fixed." Miss Dafoe said European judges tend to vote in blocs on the skating competitions.

Eight 'Death Row' Killers Favor Hanging to Life in Jail

EDDYVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Eight convicted murderers were asked how they felt about a proposal to abolish capital punishment in Kentucky.

One prisoner, who was in Death Row during a period when 22 men were executed, said: "It isn't pleasant. But some crimes, especially those involving little children, cannot be adequately punished short of death."

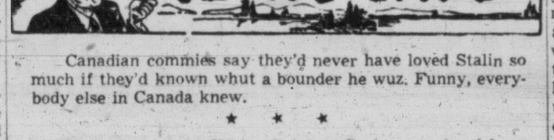
Another, who spent five months in Death Row before a new trial resulted in a life sentence, commented: "Just the thought of it (death) will keep a lot of people from committing crimes."

"I don't consider the life sentence severe enough for some crimes," said another admitted killer. "The death penalty prevents a lot of premeditated crimes."

Another prisoner pretty well summed up the sentiments of all on the question of a mandatory life sentence in lieu of death.

"If I were given a sentence like that I'd spend all the time trying to escape," he said. "I'd kill the first prisoner who looked at me crooked. I wouldn't do a lick of work. I'd laugh at the guards. What could I lose?"

All but one of the prisoners questioned are serving life terms which, under Kentucky law, means they may become eligible for parole after serving eight years.



Canadian commies say they'd never have loved Stalin so much if they'd known whut a bounder he wuz. Funny, everybody else in Canada knew.

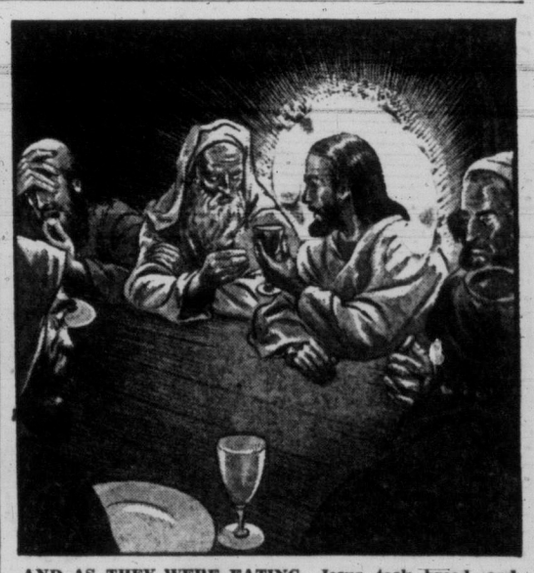
Masked Thugs Clobber Vancouver Watchman

VANCOUVER (BUP) — A 56-year-old Vancouver night watchman is recuperating today from a beating he received Sunday when four masked thugs attacked him with iron bars when he apparently disturbed an attempt to blow a safe in a Vancouver office.

Tom Magri received 21 stitches to close the gaping wounds in his head.



AND AS THEY WERE EATING, Jesus took bread, and blessed it, and brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is my body. And he took the cup, and gave thanks and gave it to them, saying, Drink ye all of it; for this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins. But I say unto you I will not drink henceforth of this fruit of the vine until I drink it new with you in my Father's kingdom.—Mat. 26:26-29.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

ETERNAL GOD, as we remember the steps of Thy Son toward the cross let us know that we cannot keep from Thee any secrets of mind or heart. Help us to be the first to believe, the last to doubt; the first to forgive, the last to blame, in the sure hope of that eternal life which we have known through Jesus Christ. Amen.

Swearing Crow Won't Talk After Capture

WINNIPEG (CP) — Klaus the crow was captured Sunday but he isn't talking. He's mad.

After flying about suburban St. James for a week, insulting residents with his swearing and fooling housewives with his cat imitations, Klaus finally lost his freedom when a young girl crept up to him and threw a cardboard box over him.

His owner, Mrs. Edith Rasmussen, said Klaus has been a mighty silent bird since he returned home.

"He's mad. Oh, he's so mad. He refuses to talk," she said.

For seven days Klaus eluded residents of St. James who tried to corner the talking crow as he flitted about the trees and houses. He spent two days chattering to students at St. James Public School.

Mrs. Rasmussen said she thought Klaus might calm down in a day or so and once more he'll dance to the radio and sing "How much is that doggie in the window?"

Silent Slayer Suspect Charged At Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ronald Clifford Dingman, 18, was charged with murder here late Sunday in the silent stabbing death of Raymond Duchateau, 29-year-old Belgian newcomer to Canada.

Police said Duchateau had been talking in French with a number of friends at a beer parlor table when a man leaped up from an adjoining table and sank a knife into Duchateau's stomach.

The victim, who came here from Ganshoren, Bruxells, in 1951, was a university graduate. He worked as a bank clerk.

Dingman, described at six-feet-four and weighing 185 pounds, was arrested after police studied a cab driver's trip report. The driver said he had carried a youth who laid a blood-stained knife on the seat. The knife is still missing.

Hero or Hoax? Chipman Probe Findings Today

Did Milkman Earn Fire-Rescue Medals?

MONTREAL (CP).—A report on a police investigation into whether milkman Edward Chipman is entitled to the honors he has received for the rescue of three children from a burning home will be made public today.

The investigation was undertaken by suburban Verdun police into the rescue for which Chipman has been awarded the George Medal and several other honors. The state department also has launched an investigation "following reports that this man (Chipman) did not rescue the children."

The 33-year-old Elmshurst Dairy milkman stuck to his story Friday night that he brought two youngsters out of the burning home on the nearby Caughnawaga Indian reservation and helped the father in rescuing a third. One child died later in hospital.

DOESN'T REMEMBER

But Georges Julien, father of the youngsters, told a Canadian Press reporter Saturday that he does not remember Chipman. He said Chipman had come to his home to see him earlier Saturday.

"He told me that he had applied artifical respiration to me at the time," said Julien. "I told him I couldn't remember him."

Julien said three of his children were sleeping downstairs with their mother and three were upstairs with their father when the fire broke out early December 20, 1954.

"Those three went outside with their mother," Julien said, pointing to three youngsters in the tiny shack where he now lives with his family. "I yelled 'fire' and two of the boys came running from upstairs. I herded them outside and then someone shouted "Where's Norman'?"

"I went back inside and found him upstairs. I brought him outside but he died. I can't remember seeing Chipman at any time when the fire was burning."

Mrs. Julien said she couldn't remember the milkman either.

Magnetic North Pole Flight Next on Massey's Arctic Tour

By JOE MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

RESOLUTE BAY, Cornwallis Island (CP).—Governor-General Massey watched the launching of a six-foot weather balloon today before taking off from here for a 600-mile flight over the magnetic north pole to Cambridge Bay, on the southern tip of Victoria Island, 1,000 miles northwest of Edmonton.

Mr. Massey watched the launching of the balloon, which rises 75,000 feet in the air, from the weather station here, then boarded his aircraft for the flight to Cambridge Bay. The craft took off at 8.40 a.m. (Victoria time).

Sunday, the Governor-General was treated to examples of Eskimo ingenuity as he resumed his Arctic tour after a flight over the geographic North Pole Saturday.

Mr. Massey marvelled at the craftsmanship of a 22-year-old Eskimo who, in one day, fashioned a violin from a ham tin and an old packingcase. And he was amazed by the talent of Martha, young wife of Jackoosee, the inventor, as she played Scottish Strathspeys and reels on the sweet-toned instrument.

At another home he visited during his busy schedule, the Governor-General saw a microphone made from an ink tin and wired to a toy fuse box. He was told that many Eskimos are fascinated by electrical gadgets and will either copy or buy them just to have in their homes, although they have no electricity.

BROADCAST RECORDED

Sipping coffee and dressed in a sports jacket, Mr. Massey Saturday became the first governor-general to pass over the North Pole. During the 2,200-mile flight from Resolute Bay and back he recorded a broadcast:

"I am speaking to you from the North Pole," said the 69-year-old Queen's representative. "At this moment my aircraft has reached that spot on the map from which you can't go farther north.

"In our childhood we all had romantic notions of the Pole. Some of our ideas, of course, have faded with the years, but the romance is lasting. I can feel it now as I look down at the endless waste."

Mr. Massey, openly delighted after the first six days of his 17-day tour, returned to the more normal occupation of meeting the residents of the Arctic Sunday.

Mr. Massey also had an opportunity to use his prerogative as a notary public. Radio operators D. W. (Denny) Prendergast, 33, of Port Norien, N.S., and Steve Turner, 36, received new certificates some time ago but were unable to get a required notary signature. Hearing of the situation, Mr. Massey volunteered to serve as a notary and witnessed the certificates.

DROP CANISTERS

During the flight over the Pole Saturday Mr. Massey stressed, in a symbolic way, Canada's sovereign rights clear up to the top of the world by dropping a 20-pound canister containing lists of those aboard and a message in English, French and Danish for the possible finder.

With the coming of Arctic spring, the canister will be carried by moving pack ice and currents, possibly to the Danish-language Greenland coast. Any finder is promised a reward for its return to Ottawa.

The Governor-General also dropped a canister fashioned from tin cans soldered together by photographers and crew members. The canister contained dollar bills, pennies, an Ottawa Parliamentary Press Gallery card, a sweepstake ticket, a bottle of perfume from Mr. Massey's daughter-in-law, candies from Mr. Massey, messages in English, French, German and Russian—and many early letters to Santa.

Wing Cmdr. Gordon Miller, skipper of the vice-regal North Star, in an airborne presentation gave Mr. Massey a handsome framed certificate on behalf of Nuliayok, "defender of the vast expanses of the north and goddess supreme." By flying to the Pole, Mr. Massey became a member of the Winged Order of Thalarctos Maritimus.

16TH POLAR FLIGHT

It was the first Polar trip for most of the 30 persons aboard, although Wing Cmdr. Keith Greenway, a member of Mr. Massey's personal staff, was seeing the place for the 16th time.

The day seemed to reverse itself during the Massey flight, which arrived at the Pole at 11:53 a.m. (Victoria time).

After take-off at 6 a.m., "evening" seemed to rush toward the plane as the sun sank toward the horizon behind. On the return trip "morning" came in the afternoon, the sun rising over crystal white snow and ice as the plane approached.

It was a trip of precision and ease compared with fantastic sufferings of exploring expeditions to the Pole, first reached by Peary in 1908. First air trip to the Pole was made in 1926, and a Russian party landed on pack ice in 1937.

Four Remanded On Theft Charges

NANAIMO — Four men charged in police court here Saturday with breaking and entering and theft from Nanaimo curling arena Friday were remanded to March 29.

They are James Thomas, James F. Armstrong, David Allan Olsen, and Donald Lambert.

Bail was set at $1,500 in two sureties for each man. Magistrate Beevor-Potts said further remands would be likely.

MASSEY HEARS MOSCOW MOLLY

RESOLUTE BAY, Cornwallis Island (CP)—A Moscow Molly radio broadcast was heard Sunday night by Governor-General Vincent Massey.

Molly, a news commentator regularly heard in this area 500 miles north of the Arctic Circle, took part in a routine news concoction liberally laced with Red propaganda.

A cigaret but pinned to a bulletin board testifies to the lack of female companionship in this lonely outpost.

The dried-out fag is one with a difference because it has a lipstick stain.

"We don't know where it came from, so we put it on the board for old times' sake," said one man at the transport department outpost.

Britain Lifts Curfew On 200,000 Cypriots

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UP) — British authorities today lifted a 24-hour curfew which had placed 200,000 residents of Cyprus under house arrest to prevent wholesale violence and bloodshed.

It was the most rigorous curfew imposed on the island since Britain occupied it in 1878 and authorities said today it was successful. Only one fatal incident was reported during the 24-hour period.

The curfew, clamped down on 13 major communities including the capital of Nicosia, was lifted everywhere except in the village of Vasilia. Turks and Greeks clashed last week in Vasilia, and tension still was high there.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Charles Rutter, 31, a private investigator, pleaded guilty Saturday to possession of narcotics. He was remanded to Tuesday for sentence.

British A-Station Impresses Georgi

Malenkov Sticks Strictly to Schedule During Tour of Atomic Showpiece

CALDER HALL, Eng. (AP) —Georgi Malenkov and his touring Russian electrical experts today viewed the showpiece of Britain's power program, the new Calder Hall atom electricity station. British engineers said that Malenkov seemed impressed.

In a statement recorded for broadcasting, the Soviet minister for power stations said: "We wish every success to our British friends and congratulate them in advance on the successful commissioning of this station."

Queen Elizabeth is to open the power plant officially next October. By then, the first of its four atomic reactors, producing heat from uranium fuel, will be powering steam turbines to send electricity into Britain's national networks.

Malenkov, apparently to avoid embarrassing security-conscious British officials, stuck rigidly to the schedule laid out for him today. He did not go out of his way to chat with the power plant workers, as he has done previously.

In his statement, he said: "We shall be only too glad to share our experience with our British friends, just as we have seen valuable things here which we can follow."

Meanwhile, Gen. Ivan Serov, chief of the Soviet secret police, in London today shrugged off accusations of "butcher" and "murderer" appearing in British newspapers.

"I don't think the allegations made by newspaper correspondents are worthy of my attention," he told a reporter.

WEST VAN STUDENTS END STRIKE

WEST VANCOUVER (CP) —K. H. Inkster, principal of the high school here, said today disciplinary action will be considered for a student who gave a newspaperman an "incorrect" account of four students being suspended for truancy.

The student said other pupils refused to go to classes following the suspensions.

Mr. Inkster said he explained the suspensions at an assembly Friday and classes resumed without interruption.

Bate Tramples Socred Halo, Says Laing

VANCOUVER (CP)—Liberal leader Arthur Laing says Tom Bate, member of the legislature for Vancouver-Point Grey, is the "nearest thing to a hatchet man among Social Credit back benchers."

Mr. Laing was commenting on Mr. Bate's defence of Robert Sommers, former minister of lands and forests and mines, at a constituency meeting here Friday night. Mr. Bate said it wasn't a crime for cabinet ministesr to hire friends for government jobs.

"Mr. Bate not only threw off the Social Credit halo," Mr. Laing said, "He trampled on it also.

"The pathetic conceit of this government refuses to permit it to concede even obvious blunders. There are obviously interesting times ahead."

WEEKEND TROUBLES

Doorman Assaulted, 15-Year-Old Nabbed

Juvenile troublesmakers, vandals and petty thieves were on the prowl over the weekend.

A theatre doorman was assaulted, a youth had a pair of glasses broken at another theatre, two break-ins were reported and vandals ransacked several classrooms at George Jay School.

Police apprehended a 15-year-old youth after Plaza Theatre doorman Herbert Baskerville, 1122 View, claimed he was assaulted.

Police said a youth had struck the usher over the left eye, cutting the skin, and gouged his nose. Mr. Baskerville's glasses were broken in the scuffle which ensued shortly after 2 p.m. Saturday.

About an hour later, a 14-year-old boy was throwing candies around the Odeon Theatre. One youngster said his glasses were broken when struck by one of the flying candies.

E. Crabbe, janitor at George Jay School, reported Sunday that all classrooms on first and second floors of the school had been entered.

All teachers' desks on the two floors were ransacked and papers scattered around. None of the students' desks were touched, a school official reported.

A front door of the school was smashed.

Jakindar Singh, 2827 Nanaimo, told police someone had cut down a walnut tree in his yard overnight Saturday.

Thieves netted only $3 when they were apparently scared off from an office of Nels Foster Refrigeration, 944 North Park, Saturday night.

A front office had been ransacked and the money stolen from a cash box. Entry was gained by breaking a window.

B. Thornhill, 219 Cadillac, told police someone stole a tuning dial and face plate off his car radio while the vehicle was parked in the 900 block, Yates Street, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Frost's Next Move

AS THE STORY OF THE RECENT federal-provincial conference leaks out it becomes clear that more than financial issues are involved. As Mr. Grant Dexter, the veteran correspondent, writes in The Winnipeg Free Press from Ottawa, a major shift in the nation's politics is under way. It could have powerful effects on the election of 1957.

Until March 9 last, Premier Frost, though a Conservative, had co-operated closely with the Liberal Government of Mr. St. Laurent. As soon as he succeeded Mr. Drew, Mr. Frost ended Ontario's long feud with Ottawa, begun originally by a Liberal, the late Mr. Mitchell Hepburn.

Then, without warning, when the last federal-provincial conference opened in private, Mr. Frost suddenly delivered what Mr. Dexter calls a stinging attack on the Federal Government's financial policies and, returning to Toronto, declared they would cause a national disaster.

The meaning of this unexpected manoeuvre, in terms of national policies, is unknown in Ottawa. Two theories are offered to explain Mr. Frost's strategy.

He may have decided to abandon any ambition to enter federal politics, for his present line of attack on Ottawa is, in fact, an attack on all the other provinces. In that case, it is said, he would throw the whole weight of his political organization in Ontario against the Federal Government next year, act as Mr. Drew's Ontario lieutenant and hope to destroy the Federal Government.

This, however, would be a dangerous strategy. It might win seats for Mr. Drew in Ontario but would be bound to antagonize voters in the other provinces, for reasons to be noted in a moment.

In rejecting the federal tax formula called Plan C, Mr. Frost proposes to levy a provincial corporation tax on top of the federal tax and to double-tax Ontario business. By denouncing the federal plan in advance he may be preparing to put the blame for his double taxes on Ottawa.

In either case the new deployment of Mr. Frost's power in Ontario would certainly have large repercussions in the 1957 election one way or another.

The present intransigent attitude of the Ontario Government is certain to antagonize other provinces because, as Mr. Dexter says, Ontario is attempting at their expense to seize more revenues for itself. This is obvious from the formula proposed by Mr. Frost to the recent conference.

Under the Federal Government's formula, all the poorer provinces will be paid equalization grants from the federal treasury to make sure that they receive from basic taxes as much money as Ontario and British Columbia, the two richest provinces, receive.

Mr. Frost proposes to base the equalization payments on the average revenues of the four richest provinces. This would drastically reduce the average payment to the poorer provinces.

Then Mr. Frost would increase the federal tax exemptions allowed by Plan C from 10 to 15 per cent of the federal income tax; from 9 to 15 per cent of the corporation tax; and from 50 to 100 per cent of succession duties.

This would raise the cost of the scheme to the national treasury from $640 millions a year to $860 millions, an increase of $220 millions, or nearly twice the surplus in Mr. Harris' new budget. The taxpayers of the nation as a whole would carry this burden and the Ontario Government would get the lion's share of the extra revenue.

"No more selfish and grasping policy in behalf of Ontario, the wealthiest part of Canada," says Mr. Dexter, "has ever been advanced since 1941 when the first of these Dominion-Provincial conferences was held."

Mr. Frost must know that no Federal Government can possibly meet his terms. They would involve heavy increases in federal taxes. They would antagonize all provinces except Ontario and perhaps Quebec. But whether this extraordinary demarche will benefit more than it hurts the Conservative Party remains to be seen.

A Great Step Forward

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER'S recent world offer of atoms for peaceful purposes was an obvious answer to Russia's proposal to harness the atom for the benefit of communism. But it is much more than a mere retaliation in the ideological war, for it is part and parcel of a well established United States policy.

Mr. Eisenhower first proposed that the U.S. should share its uranium and certain nuclear knowledge with other nations in 1953, following the Bermuda conference of the Western Big Three. At that time he revealed his historic plan for an international atomic pool, to reverse "the fearful trend of atomic military build-up."

Under this broad-visioned program, all nations with atomic facilities were invited to contribute to an international "bank of fissionable materials." The plan would operate under United Nations auspices, and it was hoped that it would show the peoples of all nations that "the great powers of the earth . . . are interested in human aspirations first rather than in building up the armaments of war."

Russia at that time rejected the plan, insisting on the Soviet program for prohibition of atomic weapons before any international control system would be supported.

But the United States went ahead with arrangements to share atomic knowledge with others. Foreign students were assisted to study in the U.S., atomic materials were made available for research. The United States exhibited a full appreciation of its responsibilities in the new atomic age.

These steps were carried further at the meeting of atomic authorities last year, when the countries interested, including Russia, exchanged information and plans at Geneva. It was a great advance toward peaceful co-operation in the nuclear era; a constructive action to place peaceful development before military use of the atom.

Under the latest offer the United States will make available through sale or lease $1 billions worth of uranium, half of it to foreign nations, for research and development of power facilities. The power potential will represent "several millions of electrical kilowatts," and should speed by many years the full development of this great power source.

History can show few if any parallels to this action of the United States. Atomic power is the perquisite of a highly advanced and industrialized state. To share it with "have-not" nations, who if left to their own efforts might never expect to enjoy its advantages, is an act of far-sighted statesmanship.

It is a concrete act that gives substance to the high-sounding words emanating from international conferences and public platforms. It provides unanswerable proof of the good intentions of the United States in this sphere, and should do much to encourage foreign confidence in Mr. Eisenhower's equally high motives in other international contracts.

Sentimental Journey

IF MESSRS. KHRUSHCHEV AND Bulganin are as learned in the history of communism as they should be they will find their official English tour turning into a sentimental journey among the earliest scenes of the Russian Revolution. For the movement which finally issued in the present Russian state actually began in London.

As everybody knows, it was in the British Museum that a ragged and furious little man named Karl Marx settled down, in 1849, to draft the blueprint of a world revolution. It is not so well known that his disciples in Russia (the last place he expected to produce communists), came to London in 1903 to start the revolution rolling.

No one in London, not even the police, seems to have noticed fifty-seven obscure men who arrived in the British capital and convened secretly in some forgotten attic. Nevertheless, this was the decisive congress of the Russian Social Democratic Workers Party.

It had met that summer in Brussels and moved on hurriedly at the suggestion of the Belgian police. The London congress proved historic since it split the Russian revolutionary movement into the rival groups called Bolsheviks and Mensheviks.

Lenin himself was there, one of the most powerful figures of our age but then an unknown agitator worth no one's attention. He persuaded the congress to abandon moderation and embark on the great adventure. It finally carried him to Moscow and the world to the crisis of our time.

The revolution did not turn out as Marx or Lenin expected. Contemporary Russia no doubt would astound them both. And probably they would not recognize Messrs. Khrushchev and Bulganin as their heirs. But perhaps these traveling salesmen of communism will pause in the great museum, or beside Marx's grave, to meditate for a moment on British freedom which allows natives and foreigners to think as they please—as they are not allowed in Russia.

Giving Him the Works

Wasting a National Asset?

From the National Federation of Canadian University Students' Brief on Federal Aid to Higher Education

THE proportion of all Canadian university students who receive assistance in some form or another is only about 15 per cent. In Great Britain, on the other hand, the corresponding figure is almost 75 per cent. Moreover in 1938, 14 per cent of Canadian university students received scholarships; thus we have made little progress in this respect in the last 17 years.

In Britain at the present time a worthy student can obtain grants to cover the cost of both tuition and maintenance if the income of his parents is below a certain figure. In France education is a state responsibility.

It is quite impossible to determine exactly the number of students who are prevented from coming to university because their parents, being in low-income groups, are unable to supplement their children's earnings to the extent necessitated by rising costs. But there are certain pertinent facts of which we may be reasonably certain.

Low Percentage

In an address to the National Conference of Canadian Universities on June 10, 1955, Dr. E. F. Scheffield, Director of the Education Division of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, revealed that in Canada only 7.2 per cent of students of university age do go on to study there! This figure will perhaps appear more meaningful when it is pointed out that the corresponding figure for the United States is stated to be at least 30 per cent.

It was with such conditions as this in mind that Dr. F. Cyril James, Principal and Vice-Chancellor of McGill University declared: "A young Canadian from a family of modest circumstances has less chance of getting a university education today than a youth in any other country with which I am familiar." He has also declared that the low proportion of Canadian young people attending university "does not suggest that Canadians man for man are less intelligent or less ambitious than the young people of the United States or Great Britain. It underlines the fact that Canadians have fewer opportunities to obtain a university education. Expressed in simple words, Canada is wasting its most precious natural asset, the ability of its young people . . . If we are interested in the future of this country, it is of vital importance that we should offer to every Canadian boy and girl the opportunity to obtain all the education for which he is fitted."

Few Graduates

A survey taken in February, 1950, by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association indicated that only 4 per cent of those who start the first grade in Canadian public schools ever graduate from university. It also indicated that as many as 54 per cent of those who abandon education at any stage do so for financial reasons. Similarly, a high school survey at Jarvis Collegiate in downtown Toronto in 1945 showed that 38 per cent of those who were qualified to go on to university and wished to do so could not for financial reasons.

It is well to note that the barrier is not only financial; a psychological difficulty emerges from the financial one. Among even the very bright children of families in the low-income group there exists altogether too often a feeling that higher education is something to which they have not the right to aspire. To overcome the psychological difficulty any federal or Dominion-Provincial scholarship system would have to be thoroughly publicized. Indeed, officials at the University of Toronto have revealed recently that several students who did brilliantly in the entrance examinations of last year did not receive scholarships they might otherwise have won, because, coming from centres with inadequate liaison with the university and with deficient facilities, they were not informed of the existence of these scholarships so that they might apply for them.

CHIPS

From Cyprus: Bayonets and Guns and Two Tall Tales

A MAN in Cyprus sent me the two following little stories of Cypriot ways. Both true. Both recent (early March).

Three British officers got back to Cyprus after a 48-hour trip to Malta. Their RAF aircraft was misdirected into the civil side of the airport, and was boarded by little men with flit guns, and the passengers were received into the normal routine for tourists. Passports were demanded. Two of the officers had theirs, by mere chance, and they were then presented with a yellow form to fill in . . . date of birth, sex, parentage, duration of stay, and such. The third officer did not have his passport, and said it was all damned nonsense. He'd only been away for 48 hours. He had no idea of the duration of his stay but it wouldn't be an hour longer than he could help. Under protest, however, he would fill in the form. "Oh, no," said the officials, "if you haven't a passport there is no need for the form."

Brock

A BRITISH official in Cyprus, while driving himself, ran out of petrol in a village. Just ahead was a local bus, whose driver and passengers were having refreshments at the village cafe. The official asked the driver if he could sell him some petrol. The driver said he had none to spare but would drive the official to the next petrol station. He rounded up his passengers smartly, embarked tthe official, and set off. The passengers were friendliness itself, and gave the Englishman flowers. The driver refused to accept payment. The garage was equally friendly. They filled a can with gasoline and even borrowed a car, free of charge, to take the Englishman and the can back to his car. Everyone not only helpful but cordial. The Englishman filled up and drove on. And as he entered the village where he had got the petrol he was met with a shower of stones.

SPEAKING of Cyprus, did you read, about ten days ago, the message sent back to the Toronto Star by Mr. Monroe Johnston, who had been visiting the unhappy island? He was sent there as a staff correspondent and presumably an expert on discovering What's What. Yet he said half his reason for conversion to the Cypriot cause was his being sickened by street fighting.

Now, nobody in his senses would enjoy street fighting. To see a mob pushed back by soldiers or to see soldiers pushed back by a mob . . . either way it is an unpleasant thing to watch. But the unpleasantness of the sight should in no way affect a reporter's judgment of the ownership of the island. And if a reporter is totally unused to seeing mobs, his reporting may at first be a little unsteady.

A REPORTER might also prepare himself to consider that the Wilsonian Doctrine of 1949, the Self-determination of Practically Everyone (including splinter groups), is not always workable. Sometimes it doesn't even make sense, the world being what it is, and often in the last 35 years it has done harm to freedom itself . . . the freedom which was its sole justification. To take only a random example, and by no means the best one, does any Wilsonian seriously argue that splitting up Middle Europe into small racial states did any good at all? And did any Wilsonian ever suggest that Austria should have been grateful for the Anschluss of 1938, since the Austrians spoke German?

Mr. Johnston says "Fixed bayonets and levelled guns cannot intimidate an idea." This, of course, is highly emotional reporting. The adjectives "fixed" and "levelled" do not make Mr. Johnston's statement any more exact . . . they simply dramatize things to him, and (he hopes) to the reader. And the statement is a matter of opinion, not fact; it is an Idea (which might or might not be intimidated during another world war); and it is a report on the present state of Mr. Johnston rather than on the future state of Cyprus.

THAT statement about arms and ideas needs a lot of sorting out. For example, if the Idea is expressed in terms of violence, then it may be necessary to meet it with violence; the "levelled" guns are not all on one side, and it is intellectually dishonest to pretend British force was brought up first. The other day a holy abbot in Cyprus was found to have dynamite under his bed, along with other surprising things, and to remove these boxes was called an act of violence and desecration! The abbot felt that the idea of dynamite should be intimidated by fixed Commandos in level trucks, and he started talking about sacrilege.

SINCE the invention of fighting it has daily been necessary to oppose rough ideas with rough answers. Sometimes the ideas have been intimidated (what a word!) and sometimes not. For example, the Japanese idea in the Pacific and the German idea in Europe, a few years ago, may not have been wiped out . . . we can't say yet . . . but fixed and levelled replies have intimidated them for a time. And on the side of the ideamen themselves, the idea of the American revolution was not put across by scorning bayonets and guns but by using them, and by calling in more bayonets and guns in the hands of Frenchmen, who also had ideas.

There is no sense in saying "This is an Idea, therefore it must be pretty good." An idea can be good or bad or indifferent. Further, a good idea may be workable, for a variety of reasons. Woodrow Wilson was full of ideas. In the end they wrecked him, but he got off cheap . . . the ideas are still around and have destroyed millions of lives and quite a few countries.

Some Opinions of Our Correspondents

B.C.E. Rates

Your leading editorial "The Price of Electricity" in your March 22 issue seems a very superficial treatment of the subject.

In the first place, a slight bias is shown in the fact that in the systems whose rates are higher than the B.C. Electric you suggested reasons why that might be so but in the systems whose rates are lower than the B.C. Electric no such reasons were given although they are all well known and have often been publicized. For instance, Ontario and Manitoba have had the advantage of unusually low cost hydro rivers. They both are at the end of this halcyon period and, in both cases, it has been publicly stated that rates will have to be increased with the introduction of more expensive developments.

Again, all the comparisons were made with straight electrical systems. The B.C. Electric is the only system in the comparison that has a consolidated rate base including a badly losing transit system. This, however, is the way the people want it as evidenced by the opposition to the last proposed fare increase. It does mean though that electrical rates are not as low as they otherwise would be.

Finally, it would seem that the correct deduction from the comparisons you listed, which showed no pattern whatever except a distribution from low to high, is that various areas of the continent have their own particular characteristics which affect the price of electricity in those areas. This sensible conclusion is certainly the one that the different states and provinces in the United States and Canada, respectively, are working on because regulation of public utility companies by public utilities commissions is standard practice. Any given public utility is allowed to charge rates based solely on the cost of the property required for public service in the areas it serves.

The doubts and insinuations your editorial raises on the basis of superficial comparisons would seem to be quite unwarranted in view of the fact that the rates charged by the B.C. Electric are based upon the depreciated original cost of its property in the public service.

Beer With Something Added

When Leo Kaufman, big beer baron of Boston, owner of Commonwealth Brewery, heard that fluoride was to be put into the water supply of cities as "a cure for toothache" he, being a keen opportunist simply couldn't resist this one, so he forthwith adulterated his beer with fluoride and announced to the world that Commonwealth Beer would prevent toothache.

But he couldn't make it stick. The Food and Drug Administration were quick to indict him in Federal Court for "adding to his beer a poisonous deleterious substance called Fluorine, which was unsafe." He was convicted and fined $5,000, given six months in jail and placed on probation for three years.

The defence contended that there was not enough fluorine in the beer to hurt anyone. The court pointed out that the law says it is irrelevant how much fluorine was in the beer, the fact that the poison was in it was what counted.

Shall Victoria have fluoro-poisoned beer? To be or not to be, that is the question to be decided by plebiscite in December.

More Food

Re "The triumph of medicine over such former killers as typhoid, smallpox and diphtheria," it must be remembered that these diseases result from conditions of filth and squalor, and since our standard of living is now considerably improved their incidence is far less frequent.

However, for some strange reason, other more elusive killers have taken their place, such as heart disease, rheumatic fever and polio. Children are the hardest hit, also perhaps the most inoculated.

All this surely gives us much food for serious thought.

Problems

The penetrating essay captioned "You Have a Problem?" in your issue of March 15, deserves careful consideration, not only by business men but by all who feel concern about the indifference to the religious problem.

To quote the writer: "When we analyze a problem . . . we are on the way to solving it."

Is not the religious problem affecting Christianity often caused by the rejection of much of the Christian's guide—the Bible—as being "a history of crudities of thought, of dim and distantly seen ideas, of fully matured fancies discarded in despair?"

FRANK H. KEVEREN.

Flood and Conjecture

One of the strangest mysteries of mythology is the widespread incidence of "the flood" story. Among many peoples, far distant from one another, the story of the flood has been handed down and, while it takes many forms, the constant factor is that there was once a deluge and most of the human race was drowned.

One cannot help wondering how such a story became so universal. Sir James Frazer, in his great history of religions, has suggested that purely local but disastrous floods could have started the legends which, as handed down, became magnified into world-wide catastrophe.

Another speculation suggests that the flood stories had their origin in the floods caused by melting of continental glaciers of the last Ice Age. Geologists calculate that 27 per cent of the earth's land was covered by giant ice sheets during the fourth and final Pleistocene ice age, the melting of which during a comparatively short period affected the water level of the whole earth.

The post glacial period is generally set at about 15,000 years ago. Fossil forms and artifacts of this period indicate that man not only existed, but had advanced as far as the New Stone Age.

It is now understood how the Atlantic Ocean, swollen with melted ice and snow, burst through the gap at Gibraltar and flooded the area now comprising the Mediterranean Sea. This event at the end of the last Ice Age lends a clue to the Bible flood myth.

The Bible story of Noah and his ark was borrowed from the Babylonians, who in turn had picked it up from the more ancient Sumerians, so the essence of this myth was doubtless handed down as a tradition long before there was any recorded history, or even primitive understanding of nature's forces.

"DID YA GET A CHANCE TO COUNT ALL THAT MONEY YET?"

From Our Files

March 26, 1896 — A very important schedule of railway commodity rates will go into effect next week. It puts all points on the north Pacific coast on the same basis, from the east, as San Francisco.

March 26, 1916 — The liner Empress of Japan, Capt. F. L. Davison, arrived from the Orient shortly before 1 this afternoon. She was two hours later than expected, having encountered a gale when two days off the coast.

March 26, 1936 — Greenock, Scotland: Britain's superliner Queen Mary, lies at anchor at sea off here today after her first voyage—a ticklish passage down the Clyde during which she was briefly stranded twice—once by the wind.

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK

By RUTH ENKE

Country Child

BECAUSE she was an Oak Bay child growing up forty years ago in the days before organized activities and joining-the-group became the rage, she had time to wander in the springtime weeks and grow familiar with the wild flowers of the neighborhood.

Ruth

She knew the red-flower current with dark green, mealy leaves and drooping clusters of red flowers beloved by early humming birds. (The flowers smelled of tom cat, her mother said. And they did and do!)

She knew the Western Trillium or Wake Robin with net-veined leaves and hollow stem and flowers that faded to pink or purple as they aged.

She knew the Easter lilies, and called them Dog-tooth Violets or Curly Lilies because her tongue couldn't twist itself round Erythronium. (And the first to come were always found in a sunny spot beneath the windblown oaks that were little more than bushes.)

She knew Vanilla Leaf or Sweet-after-Death, with wiry stem supporting a single, three-winged "butterfly" leaf. And to herself, she called it "Fly Flower" because a neighbor down the road said that a bundle of dried leaves hung from the ceiling would keep the flies away.

* * *

She hated Pearly Everlasting because it disappointed her. For, hearing the name, she had thought of mother-of-pearl, and associated it with the 24th Psalm and the everlasting doors, lifted up so that the King of Glory might come in. And Pearly Everlasting wasn't like that a bit.

She knew the softness of yarrow leaves and their special scent when they are crushed.

She knew the yellow centres and white ray petals of oxeye daisies in a certain field.

She knew where she could find the little pink valerian, and yellow mimulus, and Blue-eyed Mary, growing mat-like on a dry rocky slope while moss was still fresh and the short, fine springtime grass still bright and green.

She knew the strange fleshy leaves and brilliant yellow flowers of sedum on a rocky ridge beside a beach.

Even before she reached school age, she knew the cradled buds of Satin Flower, and the first flatness of Spring Gold.

She knew the curled back petals of Tiger Lily, and the spotted dark brown and green of fritillary.

She knew the funny little yellow flower which she called Pineapple Plant, and she hated its smell, and fussed if she stepped upon it and got the smell upon her running shoes.

Thrift and cranesbill, camas and Indian Paintbrush, a kind of furry baby larkspur, wild roses full of scent—all these were part of her childhood and, unknowingly, were stored away in her memory as part of a precious heritage.

* * *

For, in those days, she never thought of conservation or of how, in years to come, cities would grow and swallow up the country places she simply took for granted.

And to my adult mind, playing fields and cultivated city parks are not enough. Each district needs a natural "wild" place, too.

And if we don't fight for such places AND teach conservation to the general public, then we surely are a bunch of selfish, unimaginative fools.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Plant Perfect Easter Gift

This Easter there is no gift more suitable for a gardener than a growing plant.

There will be so many gaps in the garden to be filled, that a flowering shrub or a group of perennials will certainly be received with enthusiasm.

What can be more suitable at Easter season than to turn ones thoughts to the rebirth of the garden? This has been a winter season much longer than is customary here in Victoria, and it is with gladness that we commence our outdoor work.

The local nurseries are full of hardy plants, and the early Easter is an ideal time for planting them. While some items will be scarce until stocks are rebuilt the choice in many lines is at present ample. The early buyer will inevitably get the widest selection.

Begonia tubers, gladiolus corms, anemone and dahlia tubers all make desirable gifts furnishing glorious color in their season. Be sure the gift is plainly labelled with its correct name, to ensure that the recipient will be able to give it the culture necessary to its well-being.

Shrubs and heathers which need little future attention are especially welcome to some gardeners looking for attractive, permanent features for their gardens. And the window gardener will enjoy a new house plant to replace those worn out by winter conditions.

For lasting satisfaction for the giver as well as the recipient, give the gardener a plant this Easter!

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

For Elderly Diabetics

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine Mayo Foundation

For 30 years diabetics, dependent on injections of insulin, have been hoping for a drug that could be taken by mouth. Until a few weeks ago there was little prospect of finding such a medicine. Thousands of patients were so averse to using the hated hypodermic needle that they sent money in large amounts to two renegade physicians in Indiana who advertised widely that they had an insulin-like drug that would work when taken by mouth. These men became millionaires, but eventually they were put in jail, where they belonged. As I remember, their "medicine" proved to be tap water. As one might have expected, thousands of the people who put their trust in this supposed remedy paid for their foolishness with their lives. They would not listen to their good home doctor.

Dr. Alvarez

Recently, in Germany, a drug was found, related to the sulfonamides, which when given by mouth, will lower the level of the blood sugar. According to Drs. Max Miller and James W. Craig, of Western University, the drug is not a substitute for insulin. It is not effective in cases of young diabetics, and it does not help in cases of acidosis due to a severe form of diabetes. It appears, however, that the drug can help the older, overweight diabetic. Often such persons have the rather mild form of diabetes which can come late in life.

According to Dr. I. Arthur Mirsky, so far as can be told now, the drug appears to act by blocking the effect of a substance in the body which destroys insulin. Now, a search is on to find other substances with this action. Some of them might be better than the one that has already been found. Much work will now be done, also, to make certain that the new drug, when used every day for long periods of time, will not damage the liver or any other organ of the body.

I hope a few-score persons will not promptly write me asking for the drug, because as far as I know, it is not yet on the market. For a while the medicine will probably be given only to diabetics who are under observation in a hospital.

At a recent conference, a number of students of the common cold discussed the available scientific evidence in regard to this type of illness. Some thought that eventually, when the cure comes, it will be a drug rather than a serum or vaccine. One difficulty with vaccination is that the period of immunity after a cold is shot. It is from six to 22 weeks. Many of us who suffer from colds know that, after having had one, we can get another within a couple of months.

A great difficulty in the way of devising a good vaccine is that, already, able men have identified thirteen viruses capable of producing colds. Usually a vaccine made from one virus cannot be counted on to protect from an infection due to another virus.

According to Dr. Dingle, more children than adults get colds, and boys have more colds than girls. Later in life, more women than men have colds, or perhaps they are more upset by them. Interestingly, as persons grow old, many become almost immune to colds.

In the great cold-research centre in Salisbury, England, much study on volunteers has shown that chilling of the skin does not produce colds. Many persons will find it hard to believe this. Dr. Harold S. Diehl, of the University of Minnesota, gave all sorts of medicines for colds to many thousands of students and found that about half of them reported excellent results after taking pills made of sugar! This indicated that many attacks that start out looking like a cold promptly abort without any help from medicine. Many a time in the past when I have thought I was coming down with a cold, all I had was a spell of sneezing and sniffling due to dust on top of old books I had been handling. Often I would take some popular remedy for a cold, and next day I would think it was pretty good, because I would abort it or greatly lessen my suffering.

RECONSTRUCTIVE OPERATIONS

Many persons in the Eastern part of this country write asking how, with their small income, they can get a cosmetic or plastic operation that they much need.

Now, I see that Dr. Genia I. Sakin, plastic surgeon, has been awarded a $5,000 prize as the New York woman who has helped others most unselfishly in 1955. I read in "Scope" that she has just returned from South America where she performed 300 operations without making any charge.

I am not suggesting that the doctor will operate on everyone for nothing, but I suspect she'd make things easy as possible for a person of moderate means.

False Teeth Often Have a Certain Odor!

Soak your plates in Polident daily to avoid "Denture Breath"

Polident is the specially designed cleanser that keeps false teeth—and breath—clean and fresh always. Follow these simple rules.

1. Never use a brush on them! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges so they get loose.
2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can leave film which collects bacteria and food particles, a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath."
3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only . . . Polident! Polident is the denture cleanser recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates that can slip and break. Polident gets where a brush can't reach. Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odor free. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter.

Canadiens Near Final Berth in NHL Playdown

SUNDAY
Montreal 5, New York 3
SATURDAY
Montreal 3, New York 1
Detroit 5, Toronto 4

By MEL SUFRIN, Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—"We try. We skate. But they've got class." In those words, Phil Watson, coach of New York Rangers, just about summed up the difference between his club and Montreal Canadiens.

The National Hockey League champions defeated Rangers 3-1 Saturday night and 5-3 Sunday night to take a three-to-one lead in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-finals.

With the fifth game in Montreal Tuesday night, Canadiens are strongly favored to wrap it up then and earn a final berth for the sixth straight season.

The "class" Watson spoke of showed in every department during the weekend games here in which Bert Olmstead, a left-winger who set a season's record with 56 assists while scoring only 14 times, switched to a goal-getting role and netted a pair in each game.

GET 2-0 LEAD

He scored at 2.11 and 13.33 of the first period Sunday night to give Montreal a 2-0 lead. Although New York fought back to tie the score in the same frame on goals by Wally Hergesheimer and Bill Gadsby the impetus was obviously on the Canadiens' side.

Jean Beliveau, the brilliant centre who also has four goals in the playoffs, made it 3-2 at 2.22 of the second period. Claude Provost added another less than a minute later and Beliveau converted Olmstead's pass at 8.16 of the third to sew up the game. Andy Bathgate got a third goal for New York at 16.04 but it was a dying effort.

The first two periods were rough and on at least five occasions it appeared full-fledged fights might develop.

RAPS REFEREEING

Canadiens received nine of the 13 penalties and coach Toe Blake had some hot words to say about the officiating.

"That was the worst refereeing I've ever seen," he said angrily as he paced up and down the dressing room afterward. The referee was Jack Mehlenbacher who had also handled one previous game.

Blake contended Rangers should have received at least three or four more penalties. He indicated he thought his team was being given the worst of it, saying "we can't touch anybody or we're put in jail while they get away with everything."

Watson, on the other hand, said he thought Mehlenbacher "refereed a heck of a good game."

As for the effect of the penalties, Montreal scored two while Rangers were short-handed and New York got one with a man advantage.

Lindsay Sinks Leafs As Wings Win Third

By JIM BASTABLE

TORONTO (CP)—To Toronto Maple Leafs, scoring on Detroit Red Wings is like tugging a tiger's tail. All they get is grief.

For the third straight time in their Stanley Cup semifinals Leafs grabbed an early lead on Saturday against the Wings. And once again they were jolted into defeat by a Detroit comeback that left them nothing but bitter memories.

The Wings sprang to the offensive with a three-goal third period and a sensational overtime goal to edge Leafs 5-4. It gave them a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven series.

The Detroiters did it with such authority that even faithful Toronto fans can't expect the series to be prolonged beyond the fourth game here Tuesday night. If the unexpected — or miraculous — happens, the fifth engagement swings to Detroit Thursday.

This, briefly, is Leafs' record of woe. They had a 2-0 lead in the first playoff game at Detroit last Tuesday. They lost 3-2. In the second game at Detroit Thursday, Toronto went in front 1-0. Wings won 3-1. It was no different here.

Leafs were ahead 4-3 when Ted Lindsay, Detroit's hot-headed left winger, scored the tying and winning goals.

Lindsay finished things with dramatic suddenness at 4:22 of the sudden-death overtime session by tapping defenceman Bob Goldham's pass behind Toronto goaltender Harry Lumley.

Lindsay's gentle stroke deflated 13,366 fans at Maple Leaf Gardens who had seen Leafs blow a 4-2 lead in the third period.

Defenceman Red Kelly and right wingers Metro Prystai and Gordie Howe picked up the other Detroit goals. George Armstrong, big right winger shifted to centre by the injury of 37-goal man Tod Sloan, scored two Leaf goals. Utility centre Brian Cullen and rookie right winger Gerry James got the others.

TWIN TEE CHAMPIONS

Smiles of champions are exhibited here by George Andrews, left, and Bob Fleming, who scored 73s Sunday to tie for medalist honors in the rain-soaked qualifying round of the Times Match Play Open Golf Championships at Colwood Golf Club. (Times Photos by Halkett.)

MOPPING UP after the downpour, Colwood's Mickey Bartkow, last year's B champion, is still cheerful after learning that his 88-8—80 did not qualify him for further play.

WET TO THE UNDERSHIRT, defending Island champion Bill McColl reads off his score to scorekeeper Jack Volway. McColl qualified with a 76.

PHOOEY TO IT, says Fred Clunk, right, as he describes how he picked up after nine wet holes. Listening is Joe Evans, who tied for low net honors with a 78-8—70.

Porky and Bobby Best 'Sloshers'

Andrews, Fleming Share Island Golf Medal Honors

Those who played in it will probably never forget the qualifying round of the 1956 Times Vancouver Island Match Play Golf Championships.

Certainly the weather conditions couldn't have been much worse.

Certainly more players than ever before picked up or declined to turn in cards because of the atrocious weather, which made for equally atrocious scoring.

Certainly those who did score well, and there were a few, can be extremely proud of their results.

And certainly there were more oddities this day, Sunday, at the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club, than usually can be found in an entire tournament.

But through it all—a driving downpour of rain drenching all contestants—two of the city's elite emerged as true champions.

George Andrews of the host club and Bob Fleming, a past Island champion, shared medal honors with three-over par 73s.

Gordon Whan of Duncan was next with 74, Laurie Kerr of Colwood had a 75 and defending champion Bill McColl a 76.

An example of the trend was the fact that a gross of 84, 14 over par, qualified for the championship flight; and in that bracket was another past champion, Ted Colgate of Colwood.

Of the 120 starters, four failed to show, and no less than 20 either quit at sometime through the round or tore up their cards for obvious reasons.

Bob Morrison of Uplands, a former champion, described the general feeling, when he said:

"My hands felt like two chunks of meat on the ends of my arms. I couldn't feel the club the last nine holes."

Still, Bob qualified with an 80, which is more than did professional Joe Pryke of Gorge Vale. Joe took an 85 (42-43).

Andrews had a magnificent first nine considering the conditions. He was out in 32, three under par and took only 10 putts for the first nine holes. His trouble came on the back nine with a 41.

Double Bogeys Hurt Porky's Score

Andrews lost his chance at par when he took double bogeys on the 16th and 18th.

Fleming put together a 36-37 for his 73. Veteran Harold Lineham matched par for the first nine with a 35, then soared to 45 on the back nine for an 80. Former B.C. champ Jim Robertson, had a 76, and the best back-nine score of the day, 36.

Eric Hibberson, a double Island champion, qualified with a 79. Colwood professional Bill Court had a 78, while Fred Clunk, a former professional, sadly shook his head after nine holes and adjourned to the locker room where he found company for his misery.

Actually all those who should have qualified for the Open, did qualify, with the notable exception of Pryke.

But there will be a new champion in the handicap division this spring.

Mickey Bartkow, Colwood's defending champion, had an 88-8—80, and missed out on a draw for the 32nd position in the handicap division.

McColl who said "I'm proud of my 76", rapped in eight consecutive fours on the last eight holes for a consistent performance.

Frank Scroggs from Uplands mastered par on the front nine, only to sky to 42 coming home for a 77. Whan put together a pair of 37s for his 74.

But some golfers had more than trouble with par.

Robertson was one, losing his club in the water at the 13th when it slipped out of his hand. Twice on drives Ted Colgate had the unhappy experience of seeing his club "outdrive" his ball.

On the fifth hole Roy Okell hit a screaming drive, but had to walk 50 yards to retrieve his driver, while late starters who found a small lake at the 10th hole were quite within their rights when they "lifted out" of "casual water."

Lost: One Club, Phone A. Turner

But the crowning feat belongs to A. W. Turner.

Turner teed off in normal fashion at the 13th—normal, that is, except that his club slipped from his grasp. And that, at last report, was the last Turner has seen of that particular club. It disappeared into a clump of bushes and then from sight.

There were other minor items, too—like Bill Martin five-putting the second green, Harry Young taking a four-stroke penalty on the 14th; Norm Boden wading into the water at the fourth, shoes and all—"I couldn't get any wetter," and Dr. George Bigelow hitting two out of bounds on the ninth.

Suffice to say that this was a day to remember (or forget) in the annals of city golf.

A playoff will be held between Andrews and Fleming to determine the tournament medalist, while a playoff is also necessary to decide the low net medalist. Joe Evans, former Cougar hockey player, and Whan tied for that honor, Evans with a 78-8—70, and Whan 74-4—70.

Match play begins next Sunday at Gorge Vale with one of the key matches being the meeting between Court and John Merriman.

Book Learning Big Help to Joe

By DENNY BOYD

Joe Evans, the lantered-jawed ex-Victoria Cougar left-winger, was talking books in the locker room Sunday as he wrung out a sock after finishing his medal round in the Times Vancouver Island match play open golf tournament.

The way Joe told it was this: "I was up at Port Alberni for a couple of days last week and I happened to pick up Ben Hogan's book, Power Golf. I studied some of the diagrams and darned if I didn't find out why I've been hooking my iron shots. I was keeping my left leg too stiff."

Joe applied his book-learning Sunday and came in out of the squall with a 78 and a net 70, good enough for a tie with Duncan's Gordie Whan for low net honors.

* * *

Everyone was talking about the weather and only a small portion of it was printable. Dr. George Bigelow said he used three golf gloves in four holes and the rain soaked them all. Frank Scroggs had a sore arm from toting a big umbrella all over the course. Norm Boden dunked his tee shot into the edge of the small lake on the fourth hole, figured he couldn't get much wetter so he walked into the water, shoes and all, and played his shot.

Until he reached the last three holes, co-medalist George Andrews was so hot he was setting up steam. George needed only 10 putts on the front nine, knocking off six straight one-putt greens. His longest putt was a 25-footer on the third which he said, "I was just trying to roll it close and it dropped." Andrews finished with 26 putts for his round.

Dr. Bigelow got off to a great start, getting a birdie three on the first hole, cranking down a 50-foot putt after a tremendous drive and an eight-iron to the green.

* * *

Jack Galbraith said of his score, "I was out in 42 and back in two hours."

* * *

Defending champion Bill McColl was quite satisfied with his round of 76 but said, "My putter usually is the best club in my bag but today I was afraid to take it out."

* * *

And Harold Lineham, who went to the semi-finals last year said, "I played like a pro on the front nine but on the back nine, the pro went home."

* * *

Former city junior champion Bob Hunt did not enter the tournament as he was in Vancouver playing badminton. As city singles champion, Hunt is leaning more towards badminton than golf and his sidekick, Doug Munro said, "After all, you can't take a 12 in badminton."

Munro and Andrews were the only two players in the field to birdie the nerve-wracking fourth hole. Andrews dropped a 10-foot putt for his bird but Munro did it the hard way, canning an explosion shot from a sand trap.

UBC Thunderbirds Blank California Bears

VANCOUVER (CP) — UBC Thunderbirds salvaged a little prestige out of the World Cup English rugby series against University of California Golden Bears Saturday when they won the fourth and final game of the 1956 schedule by a score of 8-0 on a goal and a penalty goal.

But it was anti-climax because Golden Bears retain the silverware. In the third game on Thursday they held UBC to a 6-6 draw after winning the first two games at Berkeley, Calif., by scores of 15-0 and 11-9. Over the four-game series the Bears scored 32 points to 23.

Cougars 'In'; Now Seek To Spoil Canuck Hopes

Victoria 3, New Westminster 1

Victoria Cougars find themselves in an unusual position today.

They have qualified for a final berth in the western division playoffs of the Western Hockey League and yet they have a game remaining with Vancouver Canucks—a game which could help decide their opponents in the final.

Sparked by brilliant goalkeeping by Marcel Pelletier and an alert "pick your spot" performance by the team, Cougars Saturday night defeated New Westminster Royals 3-1 for their third straight win in the home-and-home, round-robin semifinal series.

Westminster, with one game remaining against Vancouver at Vancouver Wednesday night, is second with one victory in three games, while Vancouver is winless in two games.

Thus, the situation, with the Cougars at home to Canucks at Memorial Arena Tuesday night, is this:

If Cougars defeat Canucks, then Canucks must defeat Royals on Wednesday to tie Royals in points.

If that happens the team with the most "goals for" would enter the finals. If the teams are tied in that department then the team with the fewer "goals against" would be declared the finalist. Royals have scored six goals to date while Canucks have scored five. Royals have had nine goals scored against them and Canucks seven.

If Canucks defeat Cougars then they would be tied with Royals entering the final game and the winner of that Wednesday contest automatically would qualify for the final against Cougars.

Saturday night in the Cougars' triumph over Royals, it was strictly a case of the Cougars waiting for their chances and then taking advantage of them.

Marcel Kept the Gate Locked

Meanwhile, wave after wave of Royal attackers ground to a halt on Pelletier's doorstep. Pelletier was the key to the Cougar defensive pattern and many of his 39 saves bordered on the sensational. Still, it was the Cougars who were the most deadly in front of the net.

When they struck, they struck quickly and with determination.

Don Chiupka, who again blanketed scoring ace Gord Fashoway, stole the puck from Fashoway in the Royal zone to set up the first Cougar goal. And it was fitting that Jim Robertson got the counter, as he was primarily responsible for holding the other half of the Royals' scoring punch, Blinky Boyce, in check for the second straight game.

Doug Anderson got the second on a three-way play with Doug Macauley and Colin Kilburn while Bruce Carmichael beat goalie Bev Bentley cleanly with a rebound off Robertson's hard drive in the third period.

Royals pulled Bentley in the final two minutes and it was rather odd to see the Cougars, on one sortie, passing the puck back and forth behind the Royal net, declining, it seemed, to make an all-out attempt to get the puck in the empty net. Eventually, Royals took possession.

Coach Max McNab of Royals, though downhearted by the loss, gave Cougars full marks for their fine defensive performance.

"It was identical with the last part of the game against Canucks," he said. "We had our chances, good ones," he added; "but we could never pull the trigger on that one clear try at goal we needed."

The lone Royal goal came on a backhand from Bobby Dawes who found the open net after Pelletier had made a previous save.

The round-robin triumph was worth $5,500 to Cougars.

"And don't let anyone think that we'll let down now that we're in," said coach Eddie Olson.

"That could be costly. We've reached a fine playoff edge now, and we don't want to lose it. And why shouldn't we help the Royals by knocking over the Canucks. Canucks were never kind to us in the regular season."

PRAIRIE PUCK DATES

EDMONTON (CP)—Al Leader, president of the Western Hockey League, announced Sunday the dates of the best-of-seven league semifinal between Calgary Stampeders and Winnipeg Warriors.

The first game in the WHL Prairie division final will be played in Winnipeg Thursday March 29 and the second also in Winnipeg, March 31.

If the first two games are split, the third will be played at Winnipeg April 4. If either team wins the first two, the third will be Calgary April 3.

The fourth and fifth games will be at Calgary Thursday, April 5, and Saturday, April 7.

Warriors Sweep Series From Quakers

Winnipeg 6, Saskatoon 3

SASKATOON (CP) — Winnipeg Warriors Saturday night defeated Saskatoon Quakers, 6-3, to sweep into the Western Hockey League's Prairie division final, winning the best-of-three semi-finals in three straight games. They won the first two in Winnipeg 6-1 and 5-3.

Hugh Barlow paced Winnipeg with two goals, his second going into an empty net after Quakers had pulled goalie Emile Francis. Mike Nykoluk, Skippy Burchell, Billy Mosienko and Barry Cullen got the other Warrior goals. Uykoluk had three assists.

Les Colwill, Don Raleigh and Jackie McLeod scored for the Quakers.

The Warriors took a 2-0 lead in the first period and led 3-1 after the second

Quakers peppered Ed Chadwick in the early minutes of the first period and checked Winnipeg so closely the Warriors had only one shot on Francis in the first six minutes. But the Warriors scored on their second rush, Nykoluk driving in Barlow's rebound to give Winnipeg a 1-0 lead after seven minutes.

COLWILL CUTS LEAD

Late in the period Barlow made it 2-0, batting in the puck from the edge of the crease.

Colwill cut the Winnipeg margin to 2-1 just 36 seconds after the second period started.

Winnipeg went ahead 3-1 with two minutes left, with Burchell scoring

Cullen knocked the puck off Lynn's stick and into the Saskatoon net to make it 4-1 after three minutes of the third period and Mosienko increased the lead to 5-1.

Quakers came back with two quick goals, Raleigh from McLeod and Bob Chrystal, then McLeod from Raleigh to close the gap 5-3. With less than a minute left Barlow scored his second.

Stampeders Eliminate WHL Champs

Calgary 5, Edmonton 2

EDMONTON (CP) — Calgary Stampeders downed Edmonton Flyers 5-2 without difficulty Saturday night to win their best-of-five Western Hockey League prairie division semi-final in straight games.

Stampeders led all the way as they dumped last year's WHL champions, the club that eliminated them in 1955 playoffs. Calgary now meets Winnipeg Warriors in the prairie division final.

A near-capacity crowd estimated at 6,500 cheered the Flyers on, but to no avail.

Dennis Riggin, Edmonton goalie, had to make 28 saves compared to 23 stops by Calgary's Ray Frederick.

Calgary was ahead 2-0 at the end of the first period, and allowed Flyers their only goals in the second as they maintained a 3-2 margin. They had no trouble coming out ahead in the third period.

Calgary scorers were Freddy Hucul, Doc Couture, Sid Finney, Jim McFadden and Ray Barry. The Edmonton goals were scored by Jerry Melnyk and Billy Dea.

Mrs. Pick Lone City Bonspiel Champion

Out-of-town rinks had the biggest say Sunday night when major prizes were handed out at the conclusion of Victoria Curling Club's annual ladies' bonspiel.

Of the eight finalists in the four events, six were from outside Victoria, and three of them took first place berths.

Only Victoria rink to win an event was Mrs. Edythe Pick's quartet, which defeated Mrs. Kjernisted of Port Alberni, 19-7, in the Sears Trophy final.

Curling with Mrs. Pick were Hilda James, Florence Gutoski and Edith Leach.

All four final games Sunday were not in doubt after the first few ends, with each winning rink running up an impressive margin.

The Eaton Trophy primary was won by the Edith Miller rink of Vancouver, which remained undefeated during the three-day 'spiel by bouncing the only other Victoria finalist, Mrs. Mary McKay, 14-6. With Mrs. Miller were Ruth Devlin, Beulah Swerdfegert and Jean Rose.

Another Vancouver rink, skipped by Catherine Wright, with Ruth Wilson, Bertha Dell and Goldie Perrett, took home Hudson's Bay Trophy by dumping fellow-Vancouverite Mrs. Minke, 13-4.

Other event, the Scurrah Trophy, was won by Ida Coates of Parksville, who ran up the most impressive score, a 16-2 win over Mrs. R. Miller of Vancouver. Mrs. Coates had Pat Good, Frankie Shaw and Dolly Rose curling for her.

Presentation of prizes wound up the 'spiel Sunday night, in which a record number of 39 rinks took part. The bonspiel was run on the Chisholm draw system.

Clippers Capture Coy Cup

Nanaimo Clippers won the Coy Cup Saturday night in a driving, dramatic finish when Don Ashbee broke away to score the winning goal with just seven seconds left.

Ashbee's gold-plated goal gave Clippers a 6-5 victory over Trail All-Stars at Nanaimo Civic Arena. Having won the first game of the best-of-three series, 10-2, Saturday night, Clippers took the Coy Cup and became the B.C. intermediate champions. They now move on to Alberta for playoffs leading up to the Canadian championship.

Don Smith, Del Brown, Earl Robinson, Arnie Dugan and Agnie Defelice scored the other Nanaimo goals.

Rock-Steady Gardner Takes Miami Tourney

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Rock-steady Gardner Dickinson Jr. won the $15,000 Miami Beach open golf tournament Sunday with a three-under-par 69 as first Billy Maxwell and then Dow Finsterwald blew sky-high and finished in a tie for second place.

For the second tournament in a row Maxwell went into the final round leading the field only to blow his chances on the late holes. Finsterwald shot a record 29 on the front nine Sunday to take the lead at that point—but he too blew up on the back nine.

Dickinson's winning score and his first major professional victory was 64-72-67-69—272. Maxwell had 64-65-69-75—273. Finsterwald had 70-66-69-68—273.

The 28-year-old Dickinson, who studied golf under the little master of the game, Ben Hogan, started the final round in second place, five strokes behind Maxwell.

Both Maxwell, 26-year-old from Odessa, Tex., and Finsterwald, 29-year-old from Bedford Heights, Ohio, had a chance to tie Dickinson on the final hole. But both missed their birdie putts. Finsterwald's putt was about 15 feet and Maxwell's about five.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver and Lachute, Que., had 75-66-70-71—282 and earned $175. Al Balding of Toronto earned $76.66 with 71-69-71-74—285.

Top money was $2,400. Maxwell and Finsterwald collected $1,600 each.

Cary Middlecoff of Dallas shot a 69 and Bob Inman of Detroit a 70 to tie for fourth at 275. Jimmy Demaret of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., had a 72 for 276.

Par for the 6,577-yard Bay Shore course is 36-36—72.

MANTLE CLOUTS ONE AS YANKS STOP BROOKS

MIAMI (AP)—The six-game winning streak of the Brooklyn Dodgers came to an end Saturday night when the New York Yankees beat them, 4-2, in the first meeting of these two clubs since the seventh game of the 1955 World Series.

A tremendous line-drive home run by Mickey Mantle, which cleared the centrefield wall a few feet to the left of the flag pole was the outstanding blow.

The centrefield barrier is 400 feet from home plate and 30 feet high. The ball cleared the wall by several feet and was close to 500 feet in length.

Our Ron Knows Whereof He Writes---Pin Leader

Victoria Times bowling writer Ron Coulter left streaks of scorched wood at Gibsons and Strathcona bowling alleys over the week-end.

Coulter was red hot as he vaulted into the halfway lead in the Victoria Zone Tenpins Classic with a 12-game total of 2,414.

Coulter started his streak Saturday night at Gibsons by hanging up a thumping 1,250 total. He opened up with a 266 single and then added games 222, 211, 177, 154 and 220. In his first three games, he was just one pin off a 700 series.

On Sunday night at Strathcona, Coulter added an 1,164 to his score for a 201 average over the 12 games.

In second-place at the halfway mark is Len Murrant, who combined 1,187 and 983 scores for a 2,170 total.

NEEDLES TOPS DERBY FIELD

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Florida-born Needles threaded his way around the Gulfstream Park track Saturday to win the $145,000 Florida Derby in 1.48 3/5, one second better than the previous track record.

Dino Lozzi's Count Chick finished second and Culmet farm's Pintor Lea was third.

The victory for Needles, who earlier won the Flamingo stakes, stamped him as the most promising colt for the Kentucky Derby.

B.C. Leads Olympic Hoop Final

VANCOUVER (CP) — A new power in amateur basketball erupted here Saturday night as the British Columbia Totems forced back the hard-driving Manitoba Buffaloes to emerge undefeated after two rounds of the Olympic trials.

B.C. upset the Manitoba squad 81-76 for its second straight victory of the four-team, double knockout series which will also decide the Canadian championship.

Saturday's round at the University of B.C. gymnasium before a near capacity house of 4,000 also eliminated Ontario Nortowns from further contention.

The easterners bowed 64-55 to Alberta Towne Hallers in a fiercely contested battle for third playoff spot.

The same B.C. crew which showed a generally ragged performance in defeating Ontario in the open round of the trials, showed up polished and strong against the powerful Buffaloes.

The Totems struck sharply from the opening buzzer, Ron Bissett, six-foot-four forward with Canadian champions Alberni Athletics last year, sinking five field goals in the first quarter to give B.C. a 26-16 lead after 10 minutes.

McLEOD SCORES 23

B.C. led 38-31 at half time.

Totems centre Bob Pickel and rangy forward John McLeod were standout performers in the dangerous twin-post offence, on the rebounds, and tip-ins.

McLeod struck for 23 points —highest tally in the game— and Pickel accounted for 18.

King Carl Ridd, often awkward in appearance but deadly from the free-throw line or under the basket, and Spack, each turned in 18 points.

In the foul-shot department, Manitoba scored 23 of 37 tries from the charity line while B.C. counted 23 out of 33.

Alberta's artistry against Ontario was shared by centre Ed Lucht, forwards Don MacIntosh and Tom Karren and guard Art Kruger. Karren scored 14 points, the others 13.

Towne Hallers got the jump over Nortowns in the first half, leading 20-15 in the first quarter and 34-27 at halftime.

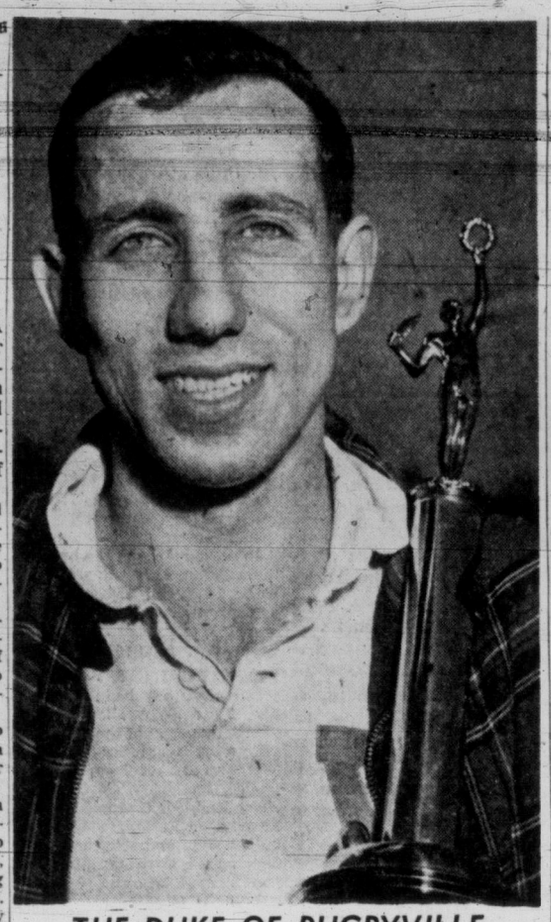
Victoria Strathconas soccer team will hold a practice Wednesday night at Athletic Park at 7.



THE DUKE OF RUGBYVILLE

Speedy Raphael Duke, Oak Bay Wanderers and Victoria Crimson Tide wing star, Saturday was named winner of the John Rowland Memorial Trophy. Presented by the Victoria Daily Times, the trophy is for the Victoria Rugby Union player best combining sportsmanship, ability and contribution to the game. (Times Photo.)

WANDERERS, COLLEGE TRIUMPH

Duke, Navy Squad Take Rugger Awards

It was trophy day for teams and individuals Saturday at Macdonald Park as rugby champions received their due honors.

Victoria Times managing editor Les Fox presented the Times trophy to Doug Williams on behalf of the Navy team, who won the second division championship, and the John Rowland Memorial trophy to Raphael Duke of Oak Bay Wanderers as the most sportsmanlike and proficient Victoria Rugby Union player.

Stewart Smith Sr., VRU president, presented the Cowichan Cup to Dick Ellis of Wanderers, who won the Island knockout championship, and the Barnard Cup to Harry Turner of JBAA, who won the first division league title.

In the second of two games played Saturday, Wanderers took the Cowichan Cup by defeating HMCS Venture, 24-14. Keith Gold and Ray Calton scored two tries each for Wanderers while Thor Young and Derek Hood played standout games for the losers.

Stew Smith accounted for 10 points with his deadly kicking as Victoria College defeated Navy, 22-5, in the first of a two-game total-point series for the second division title. Scrum-half Mike Fox shared top billing with Smith on the College squad.

Pavelich Shatters Own Shotput Mark

VANCOUVER (CP) — John Pavelich, 30-year-old high school teacher, broke his own Canadian record Saturday by throwing the shotput 48 ft. 2 in. at a Vancouver Olympic Club indoor meet.

Pavelich, who was suffering from a heavy cold, bettered his old mark by four inches which he set here in 1952.

He was a silver medallist in the shotput event in the 1954 British Empire Games.

EMBARRASS SHORES

Straths Move Along Cup Trail

By BILL RAYNER

Victoria Strathconas embarrassed Jock Hendry and the Coast Soccer League all the way from here to Callister Park Saturday by bouncing North Shore United, 3-0, in a Province Cup game at Athletic Park.

Strathconas, booted blithely out of the CSL by Hendry and cohorts over summer league registration differences, thus eliminated league-member North Shore from the Cup race.

The Straths did it right handily, too, in advancing into the Cup semifinal against a yet unnamed opponent.

Although kept off the scoreboard until the last 13 minutes of the game, Straths were the masters all the way. Only the brilliant playing of Shores' goalie, Joe Travis, kept them at bay until 32 minutes of the second half.

Then Bill Abbott scored from close in. He was followed two minutes later by Ginger Pickburn, and finally, Tommy Druce at 40 minutes.

In the first half, Straths' long, accurate passing game had them in on Travis continually, but hurried shots around the net cost them three good opportunities. Ced Robb, playing an aggressive outside-right, and outside-left Ken Hibbert missed the best chances.

Robb and wee Ernie Eastlake, playing a sturdy game at inside-left, were the best of Victoria's fast-paced forward line. Pete Winter played an agile game in goal for the winners, coming up with some point-blank saves in the dying minutes.

It was the fertile imagination of manager Charlie Lewis that came up with the winning goal. Lewis inserted Abbott for George Wright over the loud protestations of the 800 fans present, and Abbott took a short pass as soon as he ran on the field, dribbled in close and beat Travis with a low shot.

Pickburn made it 2-0 two minutes later with a long wind-driven kick that Travis attempted to punch clear but deflected into his own net. Finally, Druce scored the best goal of the game, heading in a perfect cross from Robb at 40 minutes.

B's Drop Coast Hoop Playoff

Victoria B's fell far short of their objective Saturday night at Central Junior High School gym and lost the B.C. coast senior "B" women's basketball final to UBC Thunderettes.

Behind 22 points via a 66-44 loss to UBC Friday in the two-game, total-point series, the B's eked out a tight 49-48 win Saturday night, but still lost the final 114-93.

Thunderettes will now meet either Penticton or Kamloops in the provincial final.

Helen Pettigrew was high scorer for both teams as she dumped in 15 points for Victoria. Teammate Bev Ross scored 12, while Pat Goodwin with 14 and Colleen Kelly with 11 led UBC.

In a preliminary contest, Cordova Bay juvenile boys downed Brentwood, 31-16.

Scorers follow:

Thunderettes—Louise Heal 9, Ann Snowsell 8, Trudy Mounce 6, Pat Goodwin 14, Colleen Kelly 11, Marian Matheson, Elizabeth Dean, Elma Gavin, June Minette. Total—48.

Victoria "B's"—Bev Ross 12, Joy Wilson 1, Helen Pettigrew 15, Darlene Robertson 6, Vi Muir 8, Pauline Shewchuk 5, Millie Colquhoun 2. Total—49.

Eagles Win Island Title

Eagles won the Vancouver Island division three soccer championship Sunday and a berth in the Tournament of Champions at Vancouver by edging Nanaimo South End Eagles, 2-1, at Carnarvon Park.

Eagles, Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association division three winners, took the lead in the first half of the well-played game when Barry Menzies booted in a left-footer.

Joey Przoda tied it up for Nanaimo before half-time, and Daryl McIntyre score the winner for the Eagles 20 minutes after the intermission.

In a division five game at Carnarvon Park Sunday, Nanaimo South End Kiwanis took the Island title and a spot in the Tournament of Champions with a 4-0 victory over Victoria's ANAF Vets.

Ieuan Williamson opened the scoring for Nanaimo, followed by three straight goals by Orville Boyd.

Saturday in Vancouver, Lonsdale Lumber defeated Victoria Eagles, 2-0, in a division five semi-final.

Aces, Cats Lead

The Quebec Aces lead the Montreal Royals in their Quebec Hockey League best-of-seven semi-final series after splitting two weekend games, winning 8-3 Saturday and losing 4-1 Sunday.

The Aces are ahead two games to one.

At Shawinigan Falls, the champion Cataracts took a 2-1 lead over Chicoutimi Sunday by drubbing the Sagueneens 6-1.

Reds Take AHL Title

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Providence Reds outlasted Springfield Indians 9-8 Sunday night in a free-scoring American Hockey League game that gave the Reds a two-point margin over Pittsburgh Hornets atop the league standings.

Ten goals were scored in the first period of the game at Providence, six by the Reds. Springfield counted both the second-period goals but Providence fired three more in the finale before Springfield came back with a pair.

Merchants Wrap Up First Division Lead

City Merchants wrapped up first place in Victoria and District Football Association's first division Sunday by edging Vic Wests, 3-2, at Heywood Avenue Park.

Second place Heaneys remained two points behind Merchants in the final standings with a 6-1 romp over Esquimalt at Beacon Hill Park.

Jack Thompson, Bobby Clarke and Gary Pynn all scored for Merchants in the first half. Ronnie Bland scored for Wests in the first half, and Ches Powers ended the scoring after the intermission.

Daryl Burley with three goals, Ronnie Petersen with two and Mel Sellers led Heaneys to their win, with Jackie Blevins scoring for Esquimalt. Score was 3-0 at half-time.

In a second division game at Central Park Sunday, Tillicums came from behind a 2-0 deficit to nip league-winning Butlers, 5-4. It was their first loss in league play.

Bobby Mars with three goals and Vic Skinner with two counted for Tillicums, while Butlers' scoring was divided among Lyle Blaus, George Wilmont, Fred Allan and Dave Wakelyn.

Saturday, Queen's Own Rifles moved into fifth place in the second division with a 1-0 victory over Canadian Scottish.

The league will start the Jackson Cup competition this Saturday.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP) — Trading was on quiet lines on the Winnipeg grain exchange today.

A small export business was reported in flax and barley to the United Kingdom. Prices of oats and barley moved narrowly. Small gains were made in flax on light offerings.

Rye showed some early hesitation but rallied in late trade.

Weekend loadings of wheat for export included 170,000 bushels to The Netherlands, 800,000 to the United Kingdom, 75,000 to Belgium, 55,000 to Germany and 20,000 to Switzerland.

CHICAGO

CHICAGO (AP) — New crop wheat futures rallied toward the close on the board of trade today, setting seasonal highs.

Most other grains also were quite firm. Several rye contracts were ahead more than 2 cents.

Oats were in demand but nearby corn futures suffered from profit-taking.

The U.S. agriculture department reports it was donating surplus food to Turkey. Included will be about 1,500,000 bushels of wheat.

Wheat closed ¾ to 3 cents higher, May 2.28-2.27¾; corn ⅜ to 2 cents higher, May 1.41¼-⅜; oats ½-⅞ higher, May 64⅞; rye ⅞ to 4 cents higher, May 1.31¾-1.32, and soybeans 1 to 2¾ higher, May 2.67½-2.68.

Cash wheat: None; corn: No. 1 yellow 1.39½; oats: No. 1 heavy white 68; barley nominal: Malting choice 1.30-40; feed .85-1.00.

Unspent Money Boosts Highway Fund - Strachan

'Nothing Magic In $64 Million'

DUNCAN — There is no particular magic in the $64,000,000 the provincial government has appropriated for highways this year, Robert Strachan, Cowichan-Newcastle MLA, told a CCF meeting here.

This sum was built up to a considerable extent from unspent appropriations over the last three years.

He doubted that the government could get enough engineers this year to build that much road.

MISTAKES POSSIBLE

Mr. Strachan believed that the Cassiar mining road exposure would have a salutory effect on the "holier than thou" attitude of the Victoria government as it showed that it is possible for the so-called perfect government to make mistakes.

He said there was nothing in the new Soil Erosion Act which would do any good in the Cowichan-Newcastle riding as the act applied only to erosion by wind and rain and did not provide riverbank protection for navigable streams and their estuaries.

He said the new law dealing with milk production and marketing, "a pretty fair bill," but, a lot will depend on what interpretation is put on its powers as it has been loosely written.

A lot will depend on the regulations drafted and their enforcement, he said. The MLA felt the equalization of price would likely hurt the producer-vendor.

All-Electric Mill

LAKE COWICHAN — Jogindar Lumber Co. will open a new all-electric sawmill here in April to replace the mill destroyed by fire last falf.

It will cut timber from the company's nearby logging operations, and will produce 20,000 board feet daily.

Government Ferry Due for Gabriola

NANAIMO — Provincial Department of Highways intends to go into the ferry business out of Nanaimo, according to George Muir, chairman of harbor committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Muir told the Times in an interview he had been advised by a department of highways official the government will not renew the present contract with Capt. H. C. R. (Bert) Davis, owner-operator of the Nanaimo-Gabriola ferry Eena, at the end of November.

Mr. Muir said the government is planning to build a new ferry 85 feet long with a capacity of nine automobiles and 36 passengers to run between Nanaimo and Gabriola Island. The round trip is about seven miles.

NOTHING WRITTEN

Captain Davis told The Times: "The only thing I know about it came from E. S. Jones, deputy minister of highways, but I've had no written advice so far. I was simply told the department was not picking up a renewal of my contract. No reason was given."

He said the cancellation decision is "a heavy blow, at least financially." He said he had put "a good $35,000 into the Eena—she is in good shape. I really don't know what to do about this news. But I think I should be told more about it, especially the reason."

He pointed out the proposed new ferry would only carry nine cars and 36 passengers, against the Eena's 12 cars and 45 passengers.

The Nanaimo-Gabriola ferry is currently subsidized at $22,000 a year and during the "off season" carries an average of 25 per cent capacity or less.

EARLIER SERVICE

Recently Gabriola Ratepayers Association sent a delegation to Victoria in an effort to get increased service.

However, L. Dobinson, chairman of the ratepayers said: "The only real complaint we have is that we islanders need earlier departures from Gabriola side to let Nanaimo-employed people get to work on time in the morning."

He said charges that "Eena" had missed several trips last year were not reasonably founded. Heavy weather, which had even delayed docking and sailings of CPR vessels and damaged a Black Ball ferry, was reason for cancelling "a couple of trips from Nanaimo to Gabriola.

5 Per Cent School Budget Boost To Raise Sidney's Mill Rate

SIDNEY—Increases in school taxes from 0.4 to 1.5 mills are expected in School District 63 as a result of a 5 per cent increase in the school budget.

The school board has announced it will require $531,000 this year instead of the $502,000 in 1955. Residents of the area will raise $208,053 of the total required.

Saanich will pay $73,954, and expects the mill rate to increase from 13.6 to 14. Central Saanich will pay $59,328, and may see school taxes rise from 16.4 to 18 mills. Sidney will pay $15,439 of the total, and North Saanich $59,332.

WOODS LICENCES BRING HUGE GAINS—STRACHAN

DUNCAN—Robert Strachan (CCF, Cowichan-Newcastle), told a CCF meeting here recently that the granting of a forest licence to one firm had netted it a $45,000,000 profit in one year, and "not one dollar of the profit went into the public treasury."

The speaker, a favored candidate for leadership of CCF party in B.C., said the forestry department should survey all available timber on the Island, survey the production requirements of all mills, survey the holdings of each company, then reallocate the holdings to assure continued timber production.

"If this is not done there will soon be a lot of ghost towns on Vancouver Island," said Mr. Strachan.

Do you cough and wheeze with Chronic Bronchitis?

Are you kept awake cough, cough, coughing, wheezing and gasping for breath. Then here is good news. Mr. P. Poulton, 57 Marlborough Ave., Toronto writes: "For many years I suffered terribly from chronic bronchitis—prolonged bouts of coughing and wheezing at night. Sometimes my sides were so sore from the exertion that I felt as if I'd been beaten. It was a wonderful day when I tried Templeton's RAZ-MAH. I was able to sleep peacefully instead of sitting up for hours gasping and coughing. And no more soreness in my sides—thanks to RAZ-MAH!" If you suffer from asthma, chronic bronchitis or hay fever get RAZ-MAH GREYS from your druggist. Only 79c and $1.50. B-11

Parksville Works Budget Increased to $23,000

PARKSVILLE — Increase of the 1956 appropriation in the public works department from $20,000 to $23,000 was approved at the meeting of village commissioners here this week.

Road work scheduled to be done this year will be based on recommendations made by Engineer E. R. Colby, who made a survey recently of all roads in the municipality.

About $16,000 will be expended for surfacing and $7,000 for maintenance. Contracts will be called for as soon as final figures have been reached by the public works committee.

Considerable preparatory work will be undertaken to bring roads up to a state of readiness for paving, amounting to about $4,650. Major paving item will be Moilliet road, which will include grading and patch gravelling before paving is started.

QUALICUM BEACH — Civil defence budget of $750 for the 1956-57 year was approved by village commissioners here at their regular meeting. It will provide for rent of quarters, headquarters furnishing and equipment for workers.

Use of the community hall will be recommended as a headquarters for the local group. A surplus of about $200 from last year's appropriation will be expended on rubber boots, hard hats and flashlights.

Budget was explained earlier at a meeting of the cimmissioners by H. L. Moulton, local civil defence officer. Tentative plan for 10 wardens' posts in the municipal area was presented by chief warden J. M. Utteridge.

QUALICUM BEACH — Fire truck of the local volunteer fire department will be remodelled to take 300 feet of new hose and other equipment.

Cost of work on truck will be $570. Purchase of new hose was also approved by village commissioners at $1.67 a foot. With this hose Qualicum Beach firefighters should be able to reach any house in the village from existing hydrants. All hydrants have now been equipped with adaptors to take standard couplings.

Exercise Fireball a 'Brain-Teaser'

By AB KENT

Sticky brown mud of Korean paddy fields was recalled Sunday by men of the Queen's Own Rifles sloshing through a drenching downpour in "Exercise Fireball" in Saanich.

Troops and vehicles performing for 100 B.C. Area militia staff officers turned fields into quagmires to carry out a successful tactical demonstration in the face of threatened atomic attack by an imaginary enemy.

To lend realism, part of the demonstration included explosion of a mock atom bomb which flung debris, smoke and a rolling ball of fire 200 feet into the air.

Favorable comments came from all sides in the gallery of senior officers positioned in observation stands at three points during different phases of the exercise.

B.C. area commander Brig. George Kitching, who directed the scheme, said afterward:

"'Fireball' was of value. A starter—a brain-teaser. It started the officers to think of the tremendous problems forced on us with the use of the atom on the battlefield."

Of the 200 troops taking part, 160 were from Second Battalion Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, based at Camp Gordon Head, the only active infantry unit west of Calgary. It returned from Korean duty last June.

Primary significance in the exercise was attached to the fact that a self-supporting battle group, such as depicted by types of weapons, vehicles, armoured and supply support, must be dispersed over a wide area in case of attack employing nuclear weapons, and yet remain a unit capable of offensive action.

The small, tight-knit force would be capable of being operational up to 300 miles or during four days away from its source of supply.

Armament included 159 FN rifles, 119 sten guns, 56 Browning machine guns, armored support, artillery, mortars, anti-tank weapons and other support weapons.

During the afternoon the unit was deployed in concealment over the tactical area and troop movements carried out on a timed basis for the benefit of the militia officers watching from a mile away.

SMOKE SCREEN

Smoke was used to obscure the scene in its second run-off to simulate battlefield conditions.

The mock bomb was burst near the end of Telegraph road on a low-lying beach area. Built by engineers at Work Point under direction of Maj. Robert Buckley and Lieut. Richard Bohne, it kicked a hole 12 feet deep when detonated.

In it were 75 pounds of Ammonol high explosive, smoke powder and smoke phosphorous grenades, 10 gallons of gasoline, 65 gallons of flame-thrower fuel and one gallon of sulfuric acid. It was ignited electrically from a distance of 250 yards.

E. R. Atkinson, Telegraph road, claimed the blast smashed a window in his house about half a mile away.

SNAPPED A SPLIT SECOND after detonation, this simulated atom bomb explosion shows orange ball of fire thrust from core of the blast and the beginning of a mushroom effect marking an atomic burst. Ignition was set off by engineers in foreground, 250 yards from bomb. (Times Photos by Bill Halkett.)

OUR VERY OWN GARDENING GUIDE

(2ND SPRING EDITION)

Such a splendid response was accorded the first edition, in which the W and S (Wait and See) system was detailed, we now present the second edition, devoted to MG.

MG—standing for Mental Gardening—has been practiced for many centuries.

The earliest recorded success for MG, and one of the most outstanding, was scored by M. Remle Le Goolf, an ancestor of the very same Remle Le Goolf who is, today, the outstanding authority on Floogelism.

About 600 B.C., the ancestral Le Goolf was retained as consulting horticulturist by King Nebuchadnezzar.

King Nebetc.'s queen kept putting the bite on him to have a bit of a garden, and to keep her quiet, the King retained the services of M. Le Goolf.

"Fix me a real crazy garden," said the King. "Expense is no object."

"I dig you, man," said M. Le Goolf, who had no objection to expense as long as someone else was paying the bill.

So M. Le Goolf settled down on a tuft of moss outside the palace at Babylon, and began to use the MG system.

Being an expert Mental Gardener, Le Goolf soon constructed—in his mind, of course—the hanging gardens of Babylon. He dreamed up five terraces, each 50 feet above the other, embellished with trees and flowers, rising from the flat plains of the Euphrates.

When he told King Nebetc. about the hanging gardens he was creating mentally, the King said "That's real George, fat boy. What say we enter them in the Seven Wonders of the World competition?"

Well, the rest is history. M. Le Goolf's mental gardens made the first team on everybody's all-star Wonders list, and the King lived happily ever after except for a period of extreme vegetarianism when he took to eating grass.

(No trace of the hanging gardens remains today, but this is true of ALL examples of mental gardening.)

I have gone into the historical background of MG in considerable detail, to show you its potentials. However, the beginning MG-er should not expect to create a Wonder of the World first time out.

It is wise to begin on a small scale, by MG-ing a bed of, say, peonies where the ash heap now exists.

This can be accomplished by assuming a sitting position on a convenient piece of lawn furniture, narrowing the eyes, staring at the ash heap, and saying in reply to whatever your wife asks you to do: "Not right now, dear, I am visualizing how a bed of peonies will look where the ash heap is."

Try MG once, and you will stay with it for life.

Command band inspector Capt. E. R. Wragg is on a three-day visit to Victoria looking for prospective regimental bandsmen and to inspect local militia and active bands.

The new bands are due to be activated within the next two months, the Edmonton officer said, the one for Strathconas to be based at Calgary, and the Queen's Own to spend periods with the First Battalion in Calgary and Second Battalion here.

INCOME TAX TIPS

Professionals Can File In Two Ways

By GORDON HOLMS

Member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants

If your income is from professional fees as contrasted with salaries and wages you belong to an entirely different category of taxpayer.

Income from professional services can be reported either by what is known as the cash method or the accrual method. It is suggested you discuss this with a chartered accountant before making a decision.

Whichever method is used, accurate records of income and expense are required. In addition to all normal business expenses, instruments costing less than $50 may be considered as an expense and charged off in the year of purchase.

Instruments costing $50 or more must be capitalized and depreciated in the normal manner. The cost of library additions is also allowed in the year of purchase.

In claiming automobile expense, the claim must be substantiated by actual vouchers for licences, oil, gasoline, grease, insurance, washing, garage rental and repairs.

The doctor must be careful to allow a reasonable sum for personal use of his car since this is not a part of its professional use.

Mischief Charge Brings $50 Fine

A man who gave police false information and led them into a three-hour investigation was fined a total of $100 on two charges in city police court today.

Roy Charles Eyres, HMCS Naden, was fined $50 on a public mischief charge, and $50 for driving while his licence was suspended.

Police said the man was questioned when found in possession of a motorcycle, March 22. He told police he was waiting for someone else who owned it.

Police later found Eyres was the owner himself, and that his licence had been suspended in 1955 following an impaired driving conviction.

$320,000 SWIM POOL FOR SERVICE COLLEGE

Luney Brothers and Hamilton Ltd., Victoria have started work on a $320,000 contract for construction of a swimming pool at Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.

The building will be put up next to the present gymnasium, and be connected with the gym by a covered passageway.

The standard 30 by 75-foot pool will be housed in a building of reinforced concrete and concrete blocks. The building will be 144 feet by 75 feet, and will contain dressing rooms, shower rooms and squash courts.

The tile pool will be marked off in lanes for competitive swimming, with approved spring boards.

HIGHLY EMOTIONAL

Murder Victim Tried To Make $25 Loan

BY RON COULTER

Mrs. Cecelia Byskowska Pupkowski's mind was troubled and she was in a highly emotional state for more than a week before her slashed, battered body was found in her modest home Saturday afternoon.

Her husband, Czeslew (Chester), 42, who is charged with murdering her, seldom spoke to neighbors, preferring to quietly putter around in his garden.

This information about the Polish couple, whose quiet Clarence Street home erupted into a Saturday afternoon tragedy, has been volunteered by friends, fellow workers and neighbors.

WANTED MONEY

Mrs. Marie Taffin, 2558 Bermuda Place, said Mrs. Pupkowski, a vegetable cook in the Empress Hotel kitchen, had tried to borrow $25 from her only one hour before her death.

She wanted the money "for something I need in my house."

Mrs. Taffin, and other workers, said the dead woman broke into tears several times during the last 10 days.

When asked what was troubling her, she shrugged:

"Oh, nothing."

One day she told Mrs. Taffin:

"Nobody is sick . . . it's worse than that."

WEPT THREE DAYS

Mrs. Taffin said Mrs. Pupkowski later told her: "Now everything is fine. Last week I cried for three days."

Mrs. Pupkowski had tried to borrow $25 from Mrs. Taffin shortly before going off shift Saturday.

Mrs. Taffin said she told the woman she would lend her the money, but wanted her to sign a slip of paper saying she had borrowed the money.

Mrs. Taffin mentioned that something could happen to either of them and there would be no record of the loan.

WOULDN'T SIGN

Mrs. Pupkowski replied: "You think I am going to die? I don't want to die."

She didn't borrow the money. She wouldn't sign a slip.

Mrs. Dora Komarnicki, 2548 Blanshard, another kitchen worker, said Mrs. Pupkowski told her she had lost 10 pounds during the last week.

"If you're sick you better go to a doctor, it doesn't cost you anything for a checkup," Mrs. Komarnicki said she told the woman.

With that, Mrs. Komarnicki said Mrs. Pupkowski broke into tears and the conversation ended.

Alex Warwick, who lives next door to the Pupkowski home, said he had brief conversation with the man at various times as Mr. Pupkiwski worked about his garden and at pruning trees.

Mr. Warwick said both Pupkowski and his wife were friendly, but conversations with the man were usually short.

On days off, Mrs. Pupkowski had done housework somewhere else in order to meet payments on the house, friends said.

While she was working at two jobs, her husband would putter about the yard silently.

LIVELY SON

A son, Milo, 8, is a pupil at South Park School. Neighbors said he is lively but not on very good terms with other children in the district.

Friends said the family came to Canada from Germany five years ago.

They had lived in Poland during the Second World War. Another son died either in Poland or Germany.

After leaving Germany, the family lived a short time in Australia before coming to Canada.

They lived in Ontario for one year before coming to Victoria. Mrs. Pupkowski had been working at the hotel for about three years.

Mrs. Pupkowski was to celebrate her 39th birthday on June 16.

RAPE TRIAL OPENS

'He Said He Would Kill Me'

Girl Claims Force, Threats Used in Double Attack

"He threatened to kill me if I did not stop screaming," a 17-year-old girl testified in Assize Court today at the trial of Gerard Joseph Green, 20, of the Queen's Own Rifles, charged with rape.

The young woman, now married, told an all-male jury she was attacked twice by the soldier in her Hillside Avenue home on Sept. 11.

The trial opened this morning before Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes of Vancouver.

Green, a short, dark-haired soldier, is being defended by lawyer Alan Macfarlane. Lloyd McKenzie is acting as crown counsel.

The girl told the court she was preparing to go to bed at about 1.30 a.m. when accused knocked at the door of her house and asked for permission to telephone his barracks for transportation.

She said Green told her he had just arrived from Kingston, Ont., and did not know his way about Victoria.

She said she permitted Green to enter the house, thinking at the time she was not alone in the house. Two Royal Canadian Mounted Policemen boarded in the basement of the house and she thought one of them was in, she explained.

STARTED CHATTING

She said the accused sat down in the living room and began chatting about his family, his home and girl friend in Kingston.

"Then he started to ask me for water," she said. "He asked for several glasses."

The woman said she got up to lead him to the telephone when the accused grabbed her by the shoulder and threw her on the floor.

"I started crying and screaming," she testified. "He told me if I didn't shut up he would kill me."

She said Green assaulted her twice before she was able to escape through the back door of the house. She said she hid for a half hour in a garage before she went to a neighbor to request assistance.

Earlier Crown counsel McKenzie told the jury that when police went to arrest Green at his barracks he was not to be found anywhere. He said the soldier was finally picked up some time later in Eastern Canada.

The case is continuing.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Tulle and Spring Flowers Adorn New Easter Bonnets

By PENNY SAVER

One, two, three, four, five days, and then it's Easter Sunday! And you haven't bought your Easter bonnet yet? Well, hurry along, there's a wonderful selection of all types of hats in town. You may go in for the "bountiful" styles, or the small, flowered ones that can be worn anywhere. Of the latter style, there's a wonderful, new shipment that is tuned to spring. A straw-covered wire lattice-like crown sits forward on the head, and has a dainty row of pastel blossoms across the straight or slightly scalloped front. A mist of a matching tulle just covers the eyes, and envelopes the sides of the wee hat. There are two slightly different shapes.

You'll love this little hat for dress-up afternoon teas, cocktail parties, or as a perfect complement for your new Easter ensemble. In beige, pink, yellow, blue, mauve, green or white, they cost $3.95 each. Such a low price for such top quality and fashion is wonderful!

A shiny, sparkling rhinestone belt to wear with your dark after-five dress — what could be more perfect! One row of large, matched rhinestones is set in a gold expansion belt no more than a quarter of an inch wide, so that you see very little belt, but mostly sparkles. It costs $4.50.

A row of pearls in the same setting is yours for $3.95, and a two-strand belt of pink, blue or turquoise beads in an angular cut costs $4.95. A three-strand belt of dainty pearls will cost you $5.95. They come in sizes small, medium and large, and adjust to fit you just right.

In my wanderings, I came across just about the biggest paper clip I've seen. It's perfect for clipping sheafs of paper together, or as a paperweight to keep notes and papers where you want them on your desk. Made of shiny bronze, they will not only be useful, but prove to be interesting conversational pieces, too. The price is 95 cents.

Another desk item I saw is a pad about two inches high and four inches square. It has a three-sided cover of Venetian tooled leather. A little pencil fits snugly into a round slot, to keep it handy. In red, tan or green with gold marking, they cost $1.95.

Call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where to find any of the articles mentioned in the column.

KELLY COIFFURE

Spring coiffure that draws hair back from brow into a swirling chignon at the back of the head was inspired by Grace Kelly. This style, by Charles of the Ritz of New York, has a diamond bracelet around chignon and a curl going forward over each ear.

Bonspiel Banquet

Good fellowship and fun marked the banquet that culminated the annual ladies' bonspiel at Victoria Curling Rink on Saturday evening.

An extra note of mirth was added in the appearance of some of the husbands as "waitresses" dressed in hula, harem, ballet, and various other costumes.

Mrs. Thelma Clark, president of the Victoria Ladies' Curling Club, presided and seated with her at the head table were Mrs. F. G. Madden, wife of the rink manager; Mrs. K. L. Moysey, wife of first vice-president of Victoria Curling Club; Mrs. B. Wells, second vice-president of the British Columbia Ladies' Curling Association and president of the Victoria Women's Division, evening branch; Mrs. Pat Good, Nanaimo, president of the BCLCA; Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Jerry Lauder, wife of the past president of the B.C. Curling Association and Mrs. Georgie Watts, wife of secretary of the B.C. Curling Association.

Pink and red carnations decorated the head table. Entertainment was provided by various rinks.

Thirty-nine rinks were represented in the bonspiel, 10 from Vancouver, one from Chilliwack, one from Parksville, one from Seattle, one from Duncan, two from the Albernis, one from Nanaimo, one from Prince George, and the rest from Victoria.

"Waitresses" were F. G. Madden, Padre Roberts, L. Moysey, Ivan Shillington, Gordon Daziel, Bill Dunstan, Bill Purdy, Charles Watson, Bob McIntosh and Dick Pick.

Peggy Wood Keeps Her Diet Menu Interesting

Here's the sixth of a seven-day series on keeping your weight in check with a "Square Meal Diet," prepared by a consumer specialist for a dairy council. Today a TV star tops off the menu with her own experiences in keeping trim on three square meals a day.

By PEGGY WOOD
Star of TV's "Mama"

My ideas about food are very definite. Even when I'm dieting, I insist my food be interesting.

I'm a good cook and admit it. I've collected recipes for years (many of them come from my TV native Norway) and it's always a joy to talk food with Alfred Lunt, who's both a good and an imaginative cook.

It was Alfred who taught me to baste lamb with coffee that contains sugar and cream. Sounds awful and tastes divine. And when I make meatballs, I add a dash of nutmeg.

This is the sort of cooking that appeals to me. So, even when I'm on a diet, I eat a decent breakfast, a good lunch, an interesting dinner.

Actually, my dieting never is very severe. I may want to lose a pound or two a week over a period of several weeks. But that's about all.

When I am dieting, I make it a rule not to weigh every day. Too many factors influence weight for the scale to be a true test from day to day. Instead, I weigh once a week and mark down my weight on a chart. Each week I compare my weight with that of the previous week and when I've reached the point I consider desirable, my diet is over.

That doesn't mean that I reach for a box of chocolates. I never do. It just means that I can allow myself a calorie increase to a certain point and no more.

By MRS. DOLORES ELLIOTT

Here's the sixth day's menu in your 1,400-calories-a-day "Square Meal Diet":

Breakfast
½ cup grapefruit juice
1 coddled egg
1 thin slice toast
1 medium pat butter
¾ cup whole milk

Lunch
Salad of ½ cup cottage cheese, 1 medium tomato
½ thin slice toast
½ medium pat butter
¾ cup whole milk
⅔ cup berries

Dinner
Large serving Swiss steak
Small brown potato
4-6 spears asparagus
½ medium pat butter
¾ cup whole milk
Small bunch grapes

NEXT: If you carry your lunch.

A weight chart is the best possible check on a trim figure in the view of actress Peggy Wood, who is also a TV star. Here, she checks off her weight. She does this once a week for comparison.

PARENT-TEACHER NEWS

Lansdowne — Parents and students took part in a discussion at a recent meeting of Lansdowne PTA. The topic, "Some Problems of Young People," included dating, home work and car driving. W. D. Too Much Mother Worry Can Make Child Dependent

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

It is natural for young parents to be concerned when their first baby is premature. But, this concern can lead to serious psychological damage to the child.

Hurlock

(Q) "My sister's baby was premature. The doctor put him in an incubator and kept him in the hospital for a month after my sister was well enough to go home. Now the baby is just fine and is at home with his parents. But, my sister is so afraid that something will happen to him that she won't leave him alone. Her husband wants her to get a baby sitter occasionally so they can go out together and my mother has offered to stay with the baby sometimes during the day so my sister can go to the shops or to see her friends. My sister has her husband do all the marketing so she can be at home with the baby. The baby is nearly three months old and it seems unreasonable for my sister to be concerned about him. How can I make her see that she is making a mistake?" W. G.

(A) I question whether you or any member of the family can make your sister realize her concern about the baby is bad for him and for her. However, you could get in touch with the doctor, tell him how your sister hovers over the baby and ask him to speak to her about the matter.

It is perfectly natural for a young mother to be concerned about the welfare of her first baby, especially when it has arrived in the world too soon and needed special care for a month after its birth. And, until she is sure the baby is strong and well, it is natural for her not to want to entrust him to anyone else, even her own mother.

Unless your sister gets a healthier attitude about the baby than she now has, she will hover over him to the point where she will make him so dependent on her he will be unable to live his own life as he grows older. And, because your sister is wrapping herself up in the baby, she will find herself high and dry when the baby grows up, goes to school, and leaves her at home alone.

Elizabeth Hurlock will answer your personal questions. Address her in care of this newspaper.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Diet, Waist, Hip Exercises In Order for 13-Year-Old

Q.—"I am 13 years old, 5 feet 3 inches tall and weigh 123 pounds. My bust measures 34, waist 28 and hips 37½ inches. Are my waist and hips too large? If so what should I do to reduce them?"

A.—You should lose eight or 10 pounds through sensible diet. Your waist and hips are in proportion but are too large for your bust. Take waist and hip reducing exercises.

Q.—"I am 15 and wear a size 36B bra. I am ashamed to wear a sweater because everyone calls me "sweater girl." I have some beautiful summer clothes but they are all too tight through the bust. Can you help me?"

A.—You do not say whether or not you are overweight so I judge that you are not. Don't let it bother you if you are called "sweater girl." Most girls your age who write to me are worried because they do not have enough bust.

A 36B is not a very large bra. I imagine that you feel that your bust is very large because you evidently have developed early. Remember that people only tease those they like.

Q.—"I have heard a lot about how to remove hair from my body but I would like to know what causes it to grow in the first place. Do creams and lotions for your face have anything to do with it?"

A.—The distribution and heaviness of superfluous hair depends on the glandular system.

Q.—"Please answer this in your Friday Question Box. I am 13 years old, 5 feet 4 inches tall and weigh 118 pounds. My measurements are, bust 34, waist 26, hips 34 inches. Am I overweight?"

A.—You are not overweight. Your weight is just about perfect and your measurements are good. I can not send you the leaflets you requested because you failed to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I do not even have your name.

Reporter Classes Visiting Model 'Filly' in Star-Studded Stable

By TONY DICKASON

Beauty is not only skin deep, it can be even four skin layers deep, claims Powers model Miss Joy Talbot, who demonstrates company cosmetics this week for beauty-conscious women at the HBC.

From now on, we're a model boy!

This notable transition was occasioned here today by a model, Miss Joy Talbot, a joy, indeed, to behold.

Miss Talbot is a top performer from the star-studded stables of John Robert Powers, to whose eye for beauties North American males owe a legacy of gratitude.

The petite 23-year-old miss was as meticulously groomed as a Dresden doll, and as natural and relaxed in manner as a public relations man after the bar opens.

She's here for the week, to tell Victoria's women the way to unparalleled beauty via fluid cosmetics, one of which apparently penetrates to the fourth layer of skin.

This is good? we asked.

"Oh yes," she breathed. "it's a German discovery. It's the only one on the market and really stimulates the skin. We are very proud."

GIVES ADVICE

Miss Talbot is at the HBC, explaining to the ladies how eight minutes a day can save a face from decay; three minutes of applying cosmetics in the a.m., and five minutes taking it off and applying the night fluid before retiring.

With her preparations, she emphasized, there is no need for hubby to groan at the sight of his beloved first thing in the morning. All company creams are "greaseless," eliminating that grim effect on the nearby pillow.

Women beautify themselves mostly for other women, she said, but added "as long as the men look at us we may as well be presentable." Looking at Miss Talbot, this was an evident understatement.

WOMEN NEED HELP

The distaff side doesn't know any more about choosing make-up than it does about serving wines. Women generally just boom around from counter to counter seeking eternal youth. To reach the ultimate, the ladies should use products of one cosmetic line to achieve the best effect, she stated.

Gentlewomen whose faces look like blood baths from too much make-up are the types who put on cosmetics in swatches, more and more, and lose the original delicacy. "This is lack of knowledge," said Miss Talbot, whose own cheeks bloom like a shaded rose.

We asked why pictures in the fashion magazines always showed piquant skinny women as models.

"They have exaggerated stances and appearance merely to show the clothes. They are just clothes hangers."

Is there a future for cosmetics for men?

"Gosh," said a startled Miss Talbot, "I hope not!"

Kay Morrish Honored

Mrs. D. Willavoys and Mrs. C. Berry were co-hostesses recently with a surprise pantry and kitchen shower for bride-elect, Miss Kay Morrish, at the home of her parents, 1138 Faithful Street. A pink and white basket held the gifts. A corsage of pink carnations and white hyacinths was presented to Miss Morrish, while her mother received yellow and white carnations. A decorated cake with an icing bouquet was flanked by two hearts with the names "Kay" and "Howard" entwined. Guests were Mrs. C. Holman, Mrs. G. McNaught, Mrs. K. Wilkerson, Mrs. A. Miles, Mrs. A. McKean, Mrs. F. Cross, Mrs. B. A. Sanders, Mrs. A. Baldwin, Mrs. A. Johnston, Mrs. M. Hiquebran, Mrs. A. J. Hourston, Mrs. H. Brenen, Mrs. F. Walsh, Mrs. A. Rhodes, Mrs. E. Randall, Mrs. E. Wood, Mrs. M. Cameron, Mrs. M. Bland, Mrs. T. Ozard, Mrs. E. Lambert, Mrs. N. Rolfe, Mrs. J. Irwin, Mrs. G. Neelands, Mrs. F. W. Field Sr., Mrs. F. Kirker, Mrs. R. Gill, Misses Betty Dolman, Florence Scrimshaw, Eleanor Wickett and Val Speed.

For Edith Oldham

Miss Edith Oldham, whose marriage to Mr. Ross N. Noel takes place in St. John's Church next Saturday, was honored at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. R. M. Lochhead and Miss Win Lochhead at their home, 3015 Westdowne Road. A lace-covered refreshment table was centred with a bowl of spring flowers, flanked by mauve candles and a miniature bride and attendants. Gifts were placed under a decorated parasol. Miss Oldham was presented with a pink rosebud corsage; her mother, Mrs. M. A. Oldham, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. P. R. Noel, received pink carnations. Invited were Mrs. W. Noel, Mrs. Stuart Smith, Mrs. T. Kay Jr., Mrs. R. Endean, Mrs. R. Pipes, Mrs. G. Layne, Mrs. W. Bromley, Mrs. W. Unwin, Mrs. T. Wickham, Mrs. S. Mill, Mrs. G. Hines, Mrs. N. Foster, Mrs. J. Gillam, Mrs. R. Yanow, Mrs. I. Catterall, Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. R. Pitzer, Mrs. E. Paver, Mrs. W. Burnett, Mrs. T. Ward, Mrs. D. Ward, Misses Gladwyn Hodge, Marilyn Kay, Cecile Clayton, Maureen Bromley, Sharron Smith, Doris Eley and Doris Erl.

Mrs. J. Smith also entertained at her home, 1296 Richardson Street, when Miss Oldham was presented gifts from a green and white decorated wishing well. Daffodil corsages were presented to Miss Oldham and Mrs. Noel. The refreshment table was centred with a bowl of spring flowers flanked by yellow candles. Guests were members of Miss Oldham's graduating class at the Royal Jubilee Hospital. Sixteen guests were present.

Wedding Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sailes with Patty and Jim Sailes came from North Vancouver to attend the wedding of Miss Beverley Rae Essler and Mr. Frank Melvin "Mike" Newton Saturday evening in First United Church. Also from out of town for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Holding and Don, from Nanaimo.

Tea Honors Mrs. Ross

The lounge of the Veterans' Hospital was decorated with spring flowers for the tea given by the Women's Auxiliary to the hospital in honor of Mrs. Frank Mackenzie Ross, who is honorary president of the auxiliary. Miss S. J. Roberts, matron of the hospital, and Mrs. D. Leslie Macdonell, auxiliary president, were in the receiving line with Mrs. Ross and Miss Ruth MacLean. Mrs. R. D. Harvey introduced the auxiliary members and special guests. An arrangement of golden daffodils, mauve tulips and deep purple heather in a silver rosebowl centred the tea table which was lighted by yellow candles in multi-branched silver candelabra. Presiding at the urns were Mrs. M. W. Thomas, Mrs. C. A. Watson, Mrs. W. R. Russell, Mrs. J. S. Adam and Mrs. F. Logan. Assisting in serving were Mrs. H. J. White, Mrs. R. G. Cruickshanks, Mrs. R. H. Moffat and Mrs. J. M. Cummings. Mrs. Harvey was in charge of the floral decorations.

Newton-Essler Wedding Ceremony Heard Saturday in First United

While Mrs. Mary Wood played traditional organ music, Miss Beverley Rae Essler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Essler, 453 Kingston street, entered First United church on the arm of her father for her wedding to Frank Melvin "Mike" Newton, son of Mrs. May Newton, 667 Ralph street.

Rev. A. I. Higgins officiated at the double-ring ceremony in a setting of tulip, narcissus and iris blooms. Soloist was Roberto wood, who sang "Because."

For the ceremony, the bride wore a full-length gown of brocaded satin in princess style with long, lily-point sleeves, a scalloped neckline trimmed with opalescent sequins, and a net insert fashioned with a mandarin collar of sequin-trimmed matching brocade. Her floor-length veil was held by a pleated net cap of opalescent sequins and her all-white bouquet was of gardenias, narcissi and feathered carnations. She wore a small watch and earrings, a gift of the groom.

Matron of honor Mrs. Shirley Hand, sister of the bride, wore a pink, ballerina-length gown with strapless taffeta bodice fitted slightly over the hipline, and a portrait neckline. The full skirt was of pink net, and her jacket with stand-up collar was of matching net. Her headdress was of rose petals and leaves of velvet dotted with brilliants, and her bouquet was of pink and white carnations.

Bridesmaids Miss Doreen Freer and Miss Yolanda Pascoe, wore gowns in pink and blue, respectively, identically styled. The full-flared skirts were topped with strapless bodices and small lace jackets with stand-up collars. Their matching net headdresses were dotted with brilliants. Pink tulips with white narcissi and blue tulips with white narcissi made up their bouquets.

Flower girls Miss Valerie Hand, niece of the bride, and Miss Patty Newton, niece of the groom, wore full-length nylon and net dresses in green and yellow, respectively, with matching headdresses. They carried pink colonial bouquets.

Best man was Walter Wakelyn, while ushers were Don Mitchell, Alec Mitchell and Jack Goodman.

A reception followed at the Golden Slipper, where Mrs. Essler, in a two-piece dusty rose suit with navy accessories and a gardenia corsage, and Mrs. Newton, in a full length blue crepe and lace dress with net insets in skirt, white accessories and gardenia corsage, assisted the newlyweds in receiving their guests. A three-tier wedding cake trimmed with pale pink roses centred the bride's table, and was flanked with roses in silver vases. Spring flowers centred guests' tables. Lloyd Young proposed the toast to the bride.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip on the mainland, the bride wore a light blue suit with navy accessories and a grey box topper coat. Her corsage was a mauve orchid.

When they return, Mr. and Mrs. Newton will live on Cordova Bay Road.

Grace Kelly's Bridesmaids In Yellow Silk Organdie

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The eight bridesmaids at the wedding of movie star Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier of Monaco will wear identical gowns of sunlight yellow silk organdie over taffeta.

The gowns have full and fluid wide skirts and bell-shaped sleeves caught to a tiny cuff below the elbow, designers at Neiman-Marcus, Dallas specialty store, announced Sunday.

Tiny covered buttons extend from simple, small collar to a high obi sash that ties in the back with three separate bows. Flowing streamers extend from the bows.

The corolla hats of misty hairbraid in petal-like layers repeat the pale yellow of the dresses. A small butterfly bow hovers at the back.

The four flower girls will wear white Swiss organdy embroidered with yellow and white daisies and worn over soft yellow organdie petticoats.

Esquimalt Golden Age Club, regular business meeting, Esquimalt Community Hall, Wednesday at 2 p.m.

An atmosphere of warmth and fun for both mother and youngsters is a good one in which to begin posture games.

The "angry cat back" (left) is easy for a child who's seen a cat in this posture. Two tendencies a parent must help the child avoid, while playing this game, are pushing the elbows forward into a locked position and toeing in. "Being the chair back" (right) is aided by telling the child to imagine a string in the middle of her head that's pulling her straight up.

Good Carriage Starts Young Games Prevent Posture Faults

"Janie, sit up straight," is one of the poorest ways in the world to give Janie a healthy posture.

This is the word of a well-known modern dancer in New York who teaches both adults and youngsters how to be at home and relaxed in their bodies. She calls it "body mechanics," which her students consider a dull title for interesting work.

This dancer explains that while teaching adults involves correction and re-education, the whole battle with children is prevention. A child can be taught the use of muscles and can learn the "feel" of healthy posture so well that strong posture is set for life, without that dinner table admonition.

It's done by the play method, with body games that are fun for the child. The teacher, who has two youngsters of her own, recommends doing it at home, starting when the child is about six and able to respond to directions. These muscle-educating games should not be daily tasks, but fun for rainy days when the child feels like being active.

In most adults, the prime posture fault is sway-back. The tiny child, with the typical infantile big abdomen, has nothing postural to worry a parent. But as the child slims out, several body games can prevent the development of sway-back.

The "angry cat back" is a game that involves these muscles. The youngster gets down on hands and knees with fingers straight forward and feet pointing straight back, not inward. Gentle corrections by the mother to eliminate toeing in or extra-extended elbows help get the right position. Then the mother announces that the imaginary dog is coming toward the child. The child raises her middle back as she has seen cats do. Then it goes down when the "dog" leaves. Perhaps the dog comes back again. A younger child may enjoy playing the role of the dog.

This will develop the muscles that keep the back strong, but it won't encourage the development of the military brace—the usual consequence of simply telling a child to "stand up straight."

"Folding up like a book" is another game. Perhaps a youngster prefers to try it with a real book first. Put the front cover flat on the floor, hold the back cover vertically. Then slowly close the book.

For this one, the child sits on the floor, with feet and legs extended straight in front of her. Then she folds forward from the hips. She should go only as far forward as she can without hunching her shoulders or crumpling her back.

The "feel" of healthy posture comes with "being the chair back." This is done with the youngster sitting on a stool or otherwise backless chair. Her ear should be directly above the shoulder muscle, shoulders over hips, abdomen tucked toward her backbone.

It's fruitless to go at the matter too hard with a young child. If the preschool child can play these games with her mother, even if only once in a while, they will remain fun and can become a more regular thing later. The child herself may ask to play them. But if it becomes a struggle, any possible good is lost in a battle of nerves and the idea occurs to the child that posture is like cod liver oil—awful.

"Folding up like a book" begins with position that puts torso at right angles to legs. Shoulders are even.

Folding up toward her legs, youngster bends from hips as far as she can, without hunching or wrinkling in abdomen.

TODAY'S RECIPE

ROSY RHUBARB COBBLER

Frut base: ¾ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, ¼ cup water, 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine, 3 cups rhubarb, cut into 1-inch pieces.

Biscuit Topping: 1 cup sifted enriched flour, 2 teasponos baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, ¼ cup shortening, ½ cup rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked), ⅔ cup milk, 1 tablespoon sugar, grated rink of 1 small orange.

For fruit base, combine sugar, cornstarch, water and butter in 1½-quart baking dish. Add rhubarb.

For the biscuits, sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Mix in rolled oats. Add milk, mixing lightly until ingredients are dampened.

Spoon six mounds of biscuit topping over rhubarb. Combine sugar and orange rind; sprinkle over biscuit topping. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees fahrenheit) about 25 minutes. Serve warm.

Makes six servings.

University Women's Scholarship Tea

Two hundred members of the University Women's Club and their friends gathered in Oak Bay Beach Hotel for the annual scholarship tea Saturday. Guests were received by Mrs. M. F. Smith, president; Mrs. C. D. Stockdill, Mrs. A. J. Butterfield and Miss Marjorie Gilbart. Mrs. W. G. Dempsey was convener.

Special guests included Mrs. W. W. McGill, Mrs. D. P. W. Maunsell, Mrs. Lily Wilson, Mrs. K. C. Gilbart, Mrs. Theodore Norman and Miss Gilbart, winner of the University Women's Club Scholarship for 1955.

Several former winners of the scholarship—Mrs. G. H. Thompson, Mrs. Elza Mayhew, Miss Maureen Evans, Miss Margaret Little and Miss Katharine Youdall—were also present.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Hazel Hodson, Mrs. K. O. Wright, Mrs. A. D. Durand, Mrs. W. H. Hickman, Mrs. R. S. Twining, Miss Patricia Hamilton-Smith, Miss Ella Cameron and Miss Marian James. EARRINGS TAKE SHAPE

Among earring fashions are big clusters in round or shower shapes, along with trim contours and slinky string beads. Hoops, larger than ever, are back for a return engagement.

Bigger Handbags for Spring Complement New, Large Hats

Handbags this spring are larger than ever. Shapes are diversified, but whether round, square or elongated, bags provide a bigger—and more colorful—accent for new season fashions.

The slim, easy-to-pack clutch gains in length, while handle bags take on greater dimensions in either length or depth. Boxes and totes are more bulky.

Important to accent the popular off-white and beige fashions are bright-hued bags, such as a large, square calf handbag in turquoise, with a rigid handle.

Oval shaped boxes—in brilliant yellow kid, for example—complement the brown or black suit with short jacket and fuller skirt.

Many other colors and textures are featured in spring handbags. Newest note in leathers is shrunken calf, with a grained texture and pale pastel tones.

Printed and striped leathers provide further diversity. Patent continues as a spring favorite.

Straws, strawcloths and wicker in close or open weaves are often multi-colored. Silk, faille or linen bags appear in Oriental prints or check effects as well as solid colors.

LIVELY PET

FLEETWOOD, England (CP)—A motorist was waved to a stop on a quiet road near this Lancashire town by a chimpanzee who tried to get into the car. Mrs. Phyllis Carlton claimed the animal. It had run away from the cottage where she was staying.

SCHOOL PARKING PROPOSED

Petting Students Facing Crackdown

Teen-age motorists, who block driveways in vicinity of Mount View High school, may be required to use off-street parking spaces at the school, Saanich police warned today.

A petition charging the youths with litter-spreading, careless parking and speeding will be presented to Saanich council tonight.

Sixteen residents signed the petition which said students park all day, eat in their cars and scatter their lunch wrappers. Sometimes petting takes place in the cars at noon hour, the petition adds.

A Saanich police official said about 18 students' cars use side streets near the school. He said additional school parking had been arranged facing the school grounds alongside Carey road. ". . . where they will be in view of teachers."

If the youngsters do not use this parking area ". . . we may restrict parking on the streets now being used."

Principal Dr. J. M. Thomas pointed out the complaints are not within jurisdiction of the school.

BIGGER, FASTER THAN COMET?

Gen. Ivan Serov's arrival in London from Moscow gives the Western World its first close-up view of Russia's new jet-passenger plane, the TU-104 "Aeroflot." (NEA Telephoto.)

SNOOPING ON BRITISH RADAR NET?

LONDON (UP)—Aviation experts speculated today whether the sleek Soviet jet airliner parked at London airport could be charting Britain's radar defence network.

The big two-jet TU-104 which whined into Britain last Thursday with Soviet police boss Ivan Serov is equipped with an unusual number of antannae and is reported chockful of electronic equipment.

Observers said it could be listening to British radar frequencies and plotting the radar warning network. Two Russians remain aboard the plane all day and six each night.

Reds Claim Jetliner Victory Over U.S.

Serov Airliner Ready for World Use Years Before American, British Craft

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union has carefully laid plans to beat the rest of the world into the jet age of international civil flying, a top Soviet official indicated Saturday.

Marshal S. F. Zhavoronkov, bemedalled chief of the Soviet Union's civil airline Aeroflot, said huge jet commercial craft exactly like the one which took the Soviet security chief, Gen. Ivan A. Serov, to London have gone into mass production.

Zhavoronkov told reporters at a diplomatic reception that early production "bugs" have been ironed out and full-scale use of the plane is expected soon.

The plane, known as the TU-104, is the civilian passenger version of the Soviet Air Force's medium jet bomber which caused a sensation when it appeared over Moscow's Red Square on May Day two years ago.

BIGGER THAN COMET

The plane, reported capable of carrying 50 to 60 passengers at 500 miles an hour, is bigger and probably faster than Britain's projected Comet III which is not yet in production.

If production is going on as claimed it also puts the Soviet Union ahead of the United States where it is expected to be several years before civilian jets enter regular commercial service.

Zhavoronkov said current plans are to put the Russian planes into international rather than domestic service. Negotiations are going on with Norway, Sweden and Denmark on behalf of the Scandinavian Airlines for direct flights between Copenhagen and Moscow and between Stockholm and Moscow.

Other projected lines would link Moscow and Kabul in Afghanistan to New Delhi and Moscow with Peiping in China.

The Soviet marshal said eventually Russia plans a direct Moscow-to-London jet service "if the traffic warrants it."

The sleek Soviet jetliner made its first flight outside the Iron Curtain Thursday when it landed in London with Gen. Serov. Some British newspapers expressed amazement at its size and obvious power and speed.

EXPERTS CRITICIZE

However, there were second thoughts among British aviation experts later. These voiced criticisms that the giant jet engines were placed too close to the cabin, that the plane was too big for economical short hops and too small for long flights.

Viewing the plane from beyond the guarded perimeter at London airport, some aviation experts estimated its length at 120 feet, its wing span at 140 feet and rated the total thrust of its two engines at 40,000 pounds—as much as the combined power of the four jets on Britain's Comet.

One point that raised eyebrows in London was that the big Soviet plane was fitted with oxygen masks at each seat. Experts said this meant that the cabin was not pressurized.

Resolution On Fluorides Defeated

Endorsation of fluoridation by Victoria branch, Professional Institute of the Public Service, remained unshaken today despite failure of the national annual meeting to back it.

In Ottawa Saturday, a resolution put forward by the local branch was defeated on grounds it did not fall within scope of the institute's activities.

Victoria branch president, Dr. C. W Watson, medical superintendent at DVA Hospital, said today, "The resolution was frankly designed for the local situation as an expression of feeling of local members, most of whom are scientists."

He said the action of the annual meeting . . . "doesn't detract from the feeling of the group locally."

Scheme Approved For High Students To Build Floats

Vocational high school classes may build Victoria Day floats with materials donated by sponsoring merchants.

Chamber of Commerce celebrations committee spokesman Elliot Brown said Friday approval of the scheme had been obtained from Greater Victoria School Board.

Balloons used last year will not be repeated, Mr. Brown said, as floats were more popular. He said it was labor cost principally which made floats so expensive and pointed out the new arrangement would cut that cost.

Chamber director William Gilmour warned against any exploitation of child labor and suggested advertising be at a minimum, while agreeing with the plan.

Symphony Planning Big 56-57 Season

Fuller, More Thrilling Concerts Promised Large Audience at Finale

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Promises of a fuller and more thrilling season than ever before, memories of some genuinely top-notch performances and of a particularly delightful final concert, are the Victoria Symphony Orchestra's farewell gifts to its 15th season's audiences.

Whether it was orchids to the ladies or the widely attractive program offered, Sunday's concert brought a greatly increased attendance.

An additional feature, both Sunday and again tonight, when the final program will be repeated, was the 15-minute overture of short pieces played by Central Junior High school orchestra, directed by Miss Dorothy Hopgood.

This orchestra, which was awarded one of the two Alfred Prescott Memorial bursaries offered by Local 247 of the Musicians' Union in the Victoria Music Festival, reveals considerable individual and collective talent and meticulous training.

It is symphony material in the making and the playing has taste and a pleasing musical comprehension.

Three familiar compositions had been selected by Hans Gruber for this concert, Tschaikowski's Fourth Symphony in F minor being the chief offering. It was given a full-blooded, vivid performance by Gruber and the orchestra. There was plenty of fire, plenty of rich color, and truly magnificent climaxes.

Solo passages for first violin, harp, horn and flue re-emphasized the extremely fine calibre of the orchestra's leading musicians in the performance of Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Caprice Espagnol."

On the other hand, this is a composition that provides a searching test for every part of the ensemble, from strings to the extended percussion, and there was no weakness revealed throughout the whole brilliant performance.

Smetana's "The Moldau," with its lovely flowing rhythm and haunting, melodic themes, gave scope for shapely, sweeping phrases and poignant utterances in all the choirs. It was given a moving and sensitive interpretation.

J. F. K. English spoke briefly during intermission, commenting on the present financial position of the society, which, while serious, he felt did not give cause for too great alarm, as it still compares favorably with other orchestras across the continent. Nevertheless, assistance is definitely required.

Next season will see the orchestra giving 10 concerts for the same subscription price as the present eight. Soloists will include the distinguished Victoria-born pianist now in London, Robin Wood; Glenn Gould, Canadian pianist who made so deep an impression when he appeared with the orchestra in December, and Zara Nelsova, world's greatest woman cellist.

Corol McCartney, Clifford Evens and Harry Gomez, string section leaders of the orchestra, will also be featured in notable works.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books? Then ask Andy?

Andy, who is a pixie, not a person, will answer two questions daily submitted by child readers of Canada and the U.S. Children who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive as prizes for the main question, either a 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" or a 20-volume set of "The American People's Encyclopedia." Prizes for the secondary question will be an "American People's Encyclopedia Year Book" or a year's subscription to "Treasure Trails" plus "Andy's Everyday Encyclopedia."

Address your questions to "Ask Andy" Victoria Daily Times, Victoria.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of The American Peoples Encyclopedia to Don Fogle, aged 13, of Phoenix, Arizona, for his question:

How Is An Octopus Different From a Squid?

The Cephalopoda family is a branch of the mollusk tribe. The name means head-footed. The squid and the octopus are both cephalopods. You could mistake a portrait of that family for an invasion from outer space. The overall view would be filled with bulging, unwinking eyes, parrot beaks and writhing tentacles anywhere from a few inches to 35 feet long.

Such a photograph would not be easy to take. All the members are ocean dwellers and would have to be posed under water. What's more, the individuals will turn from pink to brown, to grey and other shades. For these fellows can change colors like the chameleon.

It is a shy family, though most of the members are very smart. Chances are, there will be objections to this portrait. If so, our models will fix things. Grandpa Giant Squid will order someone to squirt. Almost all of them carry sacs of sepia. In a moment the water will become cloudy—and so will our film. So let's forget that family portrait and examine the squid and the octopus one at a time.

The squid and the octopus are cousins. After one close look, you could never mistake them for brothers. To be on the safe side, let's look at the small ones that come in close to our shores. A little octopus has a head and body lumped together like a soft bag. He has eight tentacles. They grow four on each side of his head. That is why he is called a head-footed one. He can stretch his tentacles out flat and gather them into a bunch as he chooses.

The little squid is often netted and used for cod fish bait. He has a torpedo-shaped body about eight inches long. He has two flat tail fins that make him look rather like a guided missile. Eight sturdy, tapering tentacles seem to sprout from his mouth. But he goes two better than the octopus. He has an extra pair of very long tentacles. They grow one on either side of his head. They are the hunting arms which he uses to grasp his prey.

These differences also mark the big octopus from the big squid. Even the largest octopus has a bag-like body and no more than eight spreading arms. The big squid may have a long or a pear-shaped body, eight smaller arms and two very long ones.

A large octopus may have tentacles 16 feet long—a spread of 32 feet or more. But he is much smaller than Grandpa Giant Squid. This monster is the largest of the mollusk tribe, the largest living backboneless animal and just about the ugliest fellow in the world. He dwells in the deep ocean and often gets mistaken for a sea serpent.

Sometimes the body of a giant squid is washed ashore. It may weigh 1,000 pounds. Each of the two long arms may measure 35 feet. The body may be 20 feet long and 12 feet around the middle. And even in death, the glaring eyes are unclosed. But, don't mistake him for a Martian. Earth is his home and the deep ocean is his rightful place.

★ ★ ★

Andy sends a copy of The American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook to Mark L. Bishop, Jr., aged 14, of Charlottesville, Va., for his question:

How did the fer-de-lance get its name?

Fer-de-lance is a French expression going back to the days when knights fought each other with spears. It means the iron tip at the end of a lance—the business end of a spear. It was the part of your enemy's weapon to watch.

In South and Central America there is a large and poisonous serpent called the fer-de-lance. This menace also haunts the sugar plantations of the West Indies. It is a snaky relative of our rattler. However, sometimes our rattler is considerate enough to give a warning before he strikes. He shakes the horny rattles on his tail. The fer-de-lance has no rattles to shake. He always strikes without warning.

It is not hard to see how this fellow came to be named after the fer-de-lance of jousting days. Like the deadly iron tip of a lance, it is ready to strike and harm. And the bite of this serpent is far worse than the wound of a spear. Sometimes the spear leaves a clean, unpoisoned wound. But the bite of the serpent named for the tip of the lance is always poisoned.

New Zealand Hits Canada's Butter Policy

WELLINGTON (Reuters).—William Marshall, chairman of the New Zealand Dairy Products Marketing Commission, Sunday accused Canada of "pure unadulterated dumping" of butter, and denied charges that New Zealand had dumped cheese supplies in Canada.

Marshall had previously accused both Canada and the United States of "dumping", surplus dairy products in Europe, thereby restricting the outlets for New Zealand exports.

His statement Sunday was a comment on reports from Ottawa quoting Canadian Agriculture Minister J. G. Gardiner as denying that Canada was guilty of dumping and claiming the chief offender was New Zealand.

Victoria Billets Now Asked For 1,042 Young Bandsmen

Generous response to a recent request for 800 billets for school bandsmen has prompted sponsors of a provincial band clinic here to raise their sights.

If accommodation can be found, 1,042 youngsters will now be invited. The clinic will be held at Memorial Arena April 26 to 29.

Howard Denike, conference chairman for B.C. Schools Instrumental Teachers' Association, said since asking the public for 800 billets, 745 have been registered.

He said response was so gratifying that there is hope more bandsmen can be brought from 17 B.C. centres taking part.

Final phase of the band conference April 29 will be open to the public. HMCS Naden band and Victoria Symphony Orchestra will take part in a massed bands concert that night.

During their stay the visiting youngsters will be taken on a tour of HMCS Dockyard and will be treated to movies and a school dance.

Victoria Theatre Guild's current production, which opened Saturday night at the Langham Court Theatre, is one of tremendous merit, particularly in the fields of acting, direction and sheer theatrical art.

Director Gil Bunch has brought a lively imagination to bear in the presentation of this psychological drama. He has used daring and originality to heighten the story and has been most thoroughly abetted by his stage crew and a highly experienced cast of actors.

What weaknesses there are lie practically entirely within the script itself which is inclined to be self-consciously profound and too often brings the action of the play to a standstill while the author, in the guise of several of the characters, "sounds off."

ONE OF BEST

But in spite of this occasional ponderousness, this is one of the best legitimate stage offerings to be produced locally in several seasons.

Most effective atmosphere is achieved by means of a cleverly devised combination of settings and proper stage lighting—as differing from mere illumination.

Supporting parts were, within their scope, the equal of the general high level of acting.

The excellent craftsmanship of this production certainly merits the attention of all theatre-minded persons. It will continue nightly through to Saturday.

SWEET SONGSTRESS — Margaret O'Brien sings a song to her filly, Glory, in scene from "Glory." The former child star has her first grown-up role in this romantic comedy of the Bluegrass country now at the Royal.

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

AA (Oscar Class) BB (Worthwhile)
A (Don't Miss) B (For Rainy Days)
C (To put in time)

(B PLUS) "GLORY" (Royal): Can Margaret O'Brien successfully overcome the jinx that dogs former kid stars in their transition to adult performers? Certainly one can't tell from RKO's "Glory."

Without going to the records, a number who failed come to mind, Jane Withers, Deanna Durbin, Shirley Temple, Jackie Coogan, Freddy Bartholomew, Sabu and Jackie Cooper. Today we can think of only four of yesterday's fabulous children who are making good as adults, Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland, Nanette Fabray of "Our Gang" comedy fame, and, of course, Elizabeth Taylor.

* * *

ONE THING FOR SURE, MISS O'BRIEN, the wide-eyed, wide-mouthed moppet in pigtails has grown up into a very beautiful young woman. Now and then in "Glory" one is reminded faintly of Julie Harris and at others of Donna Reed. She has a steadiness and depth of character to her face that makes her appear older than her actual years. She seemed quite grown up enough to be carrying on with supporting male players John Lupton and Byron Palmer. So much for her looks.

Miss O'Brien's histrionic ability appeared to be as feeble as the play. And "Glory" is a feeble thing. It's briefly about a filly called Glory owned by Charlotte Greenwood but "adopted" at birth by granddaughter Miss O'Brien. The young woman, in spite of being cautioned that she hasn't a chance, sees Glory walking into the winner's circle at the Kentucky Derby. While working towards her goal she is pursued by wealthy Mr. Lupton and bandleader Palmer.

This column is of the firm opinion that an actor or actress is only as good as the play. If such is the case then it would only be fair to give Miss O'Brien another chance to see what she can do. If she is as wise as she looks then she must have been embarrassed by being in such a farcical effort and the embarrassment might have accounted for her running with the "also-rans."

Who knows? Next time out she may enter the winner's circle Let's hope so.

Robert Newton 'Long John Silver' - Dies

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Robert Newton, English stage and screen star who won fame for his role of Long John Silver in the film "Treasure Island," died of a heart attack at his home Sunday. He was 50.

Newton began his theatrical career as a scene painter and stage hand in the Birmingham Repertory Theatre in England. He came to the United States in 1948 after achieving major stage and film stardom in England.

His American pictures included "Treasure Island," "Androcles and the Lion," "Les Miserables," "The Beachcomber," "High and the Mighty" and "Blackbeard the Pirate."

Courtenay Actor Tops North Island Festival

ERRINGTON (CP) — Syd Williams of Courtenay was named the best actor by adjudicator Mrs. Phoebe Smith of Vancouver Saturday night after the final performance of the five-day North Vancouver Island Drama Festival.

Mr. Williams appeared in "Brothers in Arms."

Best actress was Gretta Hawoth of Parksville who played Dorinda Carp in "The Jack and the Joker."

Other awards went to Denis Probst, Courtenay, best supporting actor; Mary Anderson, also of Courtenay, best supporting actress; and Hazel Ritchie, Port Alberni, best director.

Junior awards were won by Nicky Batt of Parksville, best actor; Margaret Simpson of Qualicum Beach, best actress; Leland Theis, Qualicum Beach, best supporting actor; Marlene Lighthart, Errington, best supporting actress; and J. L. Nichols of Parksville, best junior director.

Noted Canadian Artist Dies

TORONTO (CP) — Frederick H. Brigden, 84, president of Brigden's Ltd. and an outstanding watercolor artist, died Saturday.

He collapsed during a sketching trip to Bolton, Ont.

Mr. Brigden had paintings in two of the Toronto Art Gallery's most recent exhibitions. One is in the current showing of watercolors and other, an oil, was in the Ontario Society of Artists display which closed last week.

RED BUTTONS STARS IN STUDIO ONE PLAY ON C-11 AT 7

UNION SPONSORS BASEBALL—The Western Conference of Teamsters, representing more than 400,000 union members in the 11 western states, will sponsor a portion of 108 Seattle Rainiers baseball games on Channel 13 this year. Frank W. Brewster, conference president, and William Veneman, general manager of KTVW, have announced in a joint statement.

The 108 games include live telecasts from Sick's Seattle Stadium, as well as cable broadcasts from Portland, Oregon and Vancouver, B.C. KTVW broadcasts start April 24 and end on September 16.

"This is the first time in the short history of TV that a group of unions enters the baseball broadcasting field as an active sponsor," Mr. Brewster stated. "We have been watching this medium closely and this program will serve as a pilot for future efforts on the part of the Teamsters along the Pacific Coast and in the Rocky Mountain area."

For the Ladies

Herewith titles for this week's Afternoon Film Festival movies. They commence on Channel 5 at 12 noon daily and finish at 2.

Tuesday—"One Night With You," starring Patricia Roc in a comedy-romance.

Wednesday—"Caravan," with Stewart Granger, Jean Kent, Dennis Price, Anne Crawford and Robert Helpmann in a story of a young actor who seeks fortune in 1840 Spain amid violence, romance and intrigue.

Thursday—"Another Shore," a fantasy starring Robert Beatty, Stanley Holloway and Moira Lister. The romance of an indolent young man who hopes self-thought injury in a traffic accident will finance a trip to the South Seas.

Friday—"Take My Life," starring Greta Gynt, Hugh Williams, Marious Goring and Francis L. Sullivan in the story of an opera star who tries to clear her husband of murdering her ex-sweetheart by finding the actual killer.

STEWART & HUDSON LTD.
MEMBER RETAIL LUMBERMEN'S ASSOCIATION

A Better Deal
When you order ALL your materials at Stewart & Hudson. One-stop service saves you time and money. From foundation to finished interior we can supply all your needs. Stewart & Hudson buyers are conscious of price competition and that is why they can offer you many savings. Because of our large organization with sales outlets on Vancouver Island, it is possible to negotiate commitments for whole trainloads of lumber and merchandise at more favorable prices. Combined with mechanical handling the loading and delivery of bulky merchandise can be available to you at more reasonable prices.

There's a Credit Plan
For you, too. An open 30-day charge account for new construction means you can phone your orders for fast delivery. Items purchased one month can be paid on the 15th of the month following.
Budget terms for home repairs and improvements, add a room, enclose porch, insulate, reroof, finishing extra room, remodel bathroom or kitchen. Do the job now, pay later on easy monthly installments.

280 FARM IMPLEMENTS

FARMERS
FRUIT GROWERS
S-P-R-I-N-G!
AND TIME TO GET ON THE LAND

There is a lot of work to be done and power is needed. Every farm needs a tractor and the

J. I. CASE
TRACTOR CO.

have tractors and equipment for every farm job. They get the work done efficiently and at the proper time, not only giving you better yield per acre, but lower labor costs. CASE offers a greater line of three point hook-up implements than ever before. There is an Eagle hitch implement to fit almost every operation on your farm—gives the large farmer lower operating costs and makes the small farmer big and more prosperous as he adds three point hook-up implements to his farm. With the CASE Eagle hitch one implement may be dropped and another picked up in minutes and levelling and adjusting to working depth, without getting off the tractor seat.

Don't wait, get that new machine NOW and pay for it as your money comes in.

One of the new sensational "300" series CASE tractors, which has been described as the closest approach to perfection in all tractor history with 12 speeds forward and three reverse and giving a range of speed from ¾ to 20 m.p.h., is now on display in our showroom in Keating. Come in and see this powerful and beautiful tractor.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

TUESDAY, MARCH 27, 1956

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Early A.M. very adverse so take it easy then. Later you find others about are determined to get their own way. Don't argue. Just avoid arguments and quietly go about your own business and benefits fall into your lap.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—You have very poor judgment today about right way to handle someone at home who is quite upset. However, by getting off with some experienced individual or studying available data you find right way to correct such situation.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Despite tensions over amusements and pleasures, you can really turn this into most productive day by using unique, progressive methods to bring greater respect from experts, officials, etc.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Fixing your home to let others see you have artistic skill as well as efficient methods brings to light the support they have been eager to extend you but did not know how to show ere this. Get family budget okayed by all clan.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—You have chance to study any reports that may have been perplexing to you and to uncover any discrepancies so that the future can be more easy in performing duties. P.M. fine for enjoying compatible comrades.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Contacting all partners, friends, supporters as well as discussing whatever may have been a point of friction reveals just where you stand with everyone else. Come to real understanding now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Trying to balance your budget, get bills paid, and at same time go off to some new attraction really makes little sense when you stop to really consider. Schedule your hours intelligently so you have no holding back.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Very early A.M. brings argument with someone you feel holds you down or depresses you. Later conditions lift and if you avoid running off from your job you'll find close attachment really gives you chance to strut, show your talents.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Attachment disappoints but active, devoted friend willingly works along in accord with you so you can get your desired objectives. Be sure to stop and listen to such supporter since therein is clue to your progress.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—In all the turmoil about, you can really achieve worthwhile results by holding in those sharp remarks you could easily utter and let others see that you have solid, secure basis to your thinking, actions. Huddle quietly with companions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Putting all that unique ability into channels practical where apparel, diet, utilities, transportation and communications are concerned brings some pretty worthwhile results. Forget fun in doing something constructive.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—This is your day to keep some hours free for some unexpected invitation or chance to bring your special qualifications to attention of those able to give you the data you need. P.M. get all dolled up, go out and have fun.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TUESDAY . . . Tuesday's child is one of those very unusual youngsters with an elfish way of doing things that will delight others and will be able to streamline almost anything that comes to his or to her attention. It is best therefore to give a training that is very conventional in early days so there will be a fundamental high-principled basis from which to operate. Then almost any vocation your offspring decides upon can be made workable and successful. Good for any type of public work.

Holy Week Observance Changes Made

Victoria Roman Catholics Sunday experienced in their church's Palm Sunday liturgy first of many changes in Holy Week observances designed to give greater significance to Easter.

The changes are applicable to Roman Cathloic churches throughout the world.

Gospel readings have been shortened; Palm Sunday red vestments rather than the traditional purple were worn. Red in church liturgy signifies immortality or victory of life over death; the ceremony of blessing of the palms was shortened.

Holy Thursday there will be no morning services. Masses will be at 5.15 p.m. and 7.30 p.m. in St. Andrew's Cathedral at which the laity will receive holy communion.

The most radical change in Holy Week liturgy will be on Good Friday. Nothing occurs this day until the communion service at 3 p.m. Before this year the laity did not receive communion on Good Friday.

There will be a midnight mass Saturday, with no Saturday morning masses.

Lent, in previous years, had been considered to end at noon Holy Saturday, now does not end until midnight Saturday.

36 Fliers Awarded Licences

Private pilot's licences were presented to a record number of qualifying fliers at Victoria Flying Club's annual wings banquet Saturday at Patricia Bay.

A total of 36 private licences and one commercial ticket were handed out by Desmond Murphy, Vancouver, district superintendent of air regulations for the department of transport.

The banquet also set a record for attendance with 185 members and guests seated in the club's airport mess.

Within the next two weeks 52 naval cadets from HMCS Venture, who have been trained by the club, are due to receive their private licences, said Capt. R. P. Welland, Venture comandant.

TO PENSACOLA

From here they will be sent to the U.S. naval air station at Pensacola, Florida, where they will be taught to fly all types of modern aircraft during their 16-month course.

Capt. Welland said naval pilots are trained at a cost of $69,000 each to the department of national defence.

Guest speaker was Air Commodore Duncan Bell-Irving, who advised taxpayers to press for efficiency in the spending of their defence dollars.

Rapidity and efficiency of Victoria Flying Club training was brought out in the case of licence-winner, A. David Shirley, who received both private and commercial licences Saturday. He began his training only last July.

Slides Rip Roads, Rails In Kootenays

TRAIL (CP)—Rain and melting snow sent slides slashing across rail and highway arteries in the West Kootenays during the weekend.

CPR work crews were cleaning up five slides on the Farron grade west of Castlegar and the eastbound Kettle Valley train was reported at least eight hours late in Nelson.

A washout about 30 miles northwest of Nelson cut the Nelson-Nakusp highway and bus passengers were forced to leave one vehicle, make their way across a gorge 50 feet deep and 25 feet wide to buses waiting on the other side.

A washout cut the highway a mile east of Trail and police said traffic would probably not begin moving until later today.

Another washout was slowing traffic at Rivervale.

Saanich Tories Want Opportunity To Buy Raw Milk

The Saanich Progressive Conservative Association Friday voted for freedom of choice in purchase of raw or pasteurized milk.

The resolution read: "Be it resolved that this association go on record as favoring freedom of choice to purchase raw or pasteurized milk."

Speakers at the meeting were John Fraser, first vice-president, Young Conservative Association, and H. A. Piggott, president, Esquimalt Conservative Association.

Mr. Fraser said young Conservatives were now the largest political group on the campus of University of British Columbia.

HOW to get a Friendly Loan at NIAGARA FINANCE

Drop in to see your friendly Niagara Loan advisor. He'll make it easy for you to get the Friendly Loan that suits you best. Here are important facts for you about Niagara Loans.

Who can get a Niagara Friendly Loan?—Anyone with a reputation for honesty and the ability to repay.

How much can be borrowed from Niagara?—Up to $1500; sometimes, more.

How quickly can I get money?—Sometimes in 20 minutes; within 24 hours for most loans.

How long can I take to repay?—In the table below, there are just a few of many plans. They will give you some idea of time periods allowed for different amounts . . . from 4 to 24 months. And for all people who have uneven income during the year, such as farmers and schoolteachers, special payment schedules may be arranged on loans above $500.

Are all loan charges the same?—Up to $500 generally, yes; but remember, at Niagara, you get life insurance at no extra cost.

Above $500, the larger the amount and the longer the time—the lower the rate. Compare . . . often you'll "buy" more money at less cost at Niagara.

Is Life Insurance on loans worthwhile?—Yes, here is a real family peace-of-mind feature. At no extra cost to you, loans of $1500 or less, are life-insured. Be sure you get this protection when you borrow.

Does a friend have to "back" my loan?—No, seldom do borrowers prefer an endorsed loan. And bankable security, of course is not needed.

How many ways of borrowing are there?—You can use any of these four Niagara Loan plans. 1. On cars, trucks, etc.; only owner signs. 2. Husband-and-wife, on furnishings. 3. On business equipment. 4. On farm stock and equipment.

Can I have a private interview?—Yes, your interview at Niagara will be private, courteous, and friendly.

Why do people borrow money?—A few reasons are: to consolidate a group of small debts; to reduce large payments for car and truck repairs; to meet emergencies; to repair or modernize homes; to enlarge a business; for seed, stock, fertilizer for farms; and to take advantage of low prices, when cash is paid.

Do many people borrow?—Yes, in Canada, 1 family in 4 borrow each year.

School Board 'Watchdogs' Asked By Reeve

Councils Have Little Say—Ash

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Describing the administrative set-up of B.C. schools as "outdated," Reeve Arthur Ash of Saanich today called for a revision of the present constitutions of school boards.

He suggested that provisions be made in the Public School Act to allow councils each to have a representative on school boards.

"Under the present system, elected school authorities have practically untrammelled powers over school budgets," said the reeve in an interview on school administration costs. "But councils which have to raise the budgets have little or no say on school expenditures."

Perturbed with rising school costs, the reeve said Saanich will have to provide from its estimated $2,000,000 budget a total of $513,418 to school district 61 as its share of the costs for the administration of the Greater Victoria school system.

This represented an increase of $95,000 over last year's school budget of $428,177, he said.

In addition, he said, Saanich will have to raise $73,954 for school district 63.

HALF MILLION

"This means Saanich will have to raise well over a half million dollars for schools," said the reeve.

The reeve was critical of school board 61 financial report dealing with this year's school estimates. The financial statement did not give a complete breakdown of expenditures which the reeve felt should be included in the report.

"Telephone expenses are listed as $9,800," he pointed out. "That's more than we spend on telephones."

"The upkeep of buildings is listed at $195,545," he added. "This seems rather high."

The reeve felt that school trustees should assume full responsibility for raising their budgets. As an alternative, he said the budgets should be subject to the same examination and review by councils as other municipal estimates.

"Under the present system councils are presented with a school budget without so much as an explanation for the various expenditures," he stated. "But it is the councils which have to raise the money from taxpayers.

"The provisions in the public Schools Act whereby councils can arbitrate school budgets seems to be a farce, as experience has shown," he added. In any case, surely the elected representatives of the people are entitled to all details of estimated current expenditures."

KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on 'nerves'—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help the kidneys so that you can rest better—and feel better. 136

Husband Faces Court On Wife Murder Charge

CZESLAW (CHESTER) PUPKOWSKI
... charged with murder.

CECELIA PUPKOWSKI
... found dead in home.

Man Saved From Sea Under Special Guard For April 3 Hearing

Czeslaw (Chester) Pupkowski, 42, 128 Clarence Street, showed no sign of emotion when he was formally charged in city police court here today with the pocket-knife murder of his 38-year-old wife Saturday afternoon.

The blondish-haired, Polish-speaking immigrant heard the charge through interpreter Eugene Felter. He was represented by lawyer Joseph McKenna.

He stood in the prisoner's docket with hands clasped behind his back. He nodded his head and mumbled a word to the interpreter after the charge had been translated.

The charge read he "did unlawfully murder Cecelia Pupkowski." He was remanded until Tuesday, April 3, when date of the preliminary hearing will be set.

Pupkowski had been released from an observation ward at St. Joseph's Hospital the day before the killing. He had been admitted for a few days.

City detectives charged Pupkowski at 9.30 p.m. Saturday, seven hours after his wife was found lying in a pool of blood at the family home in James Bay.

She had been beaten about the head and her throat was slit, police said.

Police seized a pocket knife.

Minutes after police arrived at the James Bay home, Pupkowski was pulled from waters off Dallas Road.

A bystander quoted Pupkowski as saying "shoot me" to one of two officers who pulled him from the water.

Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart has ordered an inquest into the death for Wednesday at 10 a.m. at Thompson Funeral Home, 1625 Quadra.

Police said an autopsy is being performed on the woman's body by Dr. Ross McNeeley.

Screams . . . Then Deathly Quiet

First hint of the gruesome murder came shortly after 2.45 p.m., when next-door neighbor George Warwick heard loud screams coming from the Pupkowski home.

"I had just opened our garage door when I heard a woman screaming," Warwick said.

"I went in the house and telephoned police. I went back outside and everything was quiet.

"About two minutes later I heard a loud thumping sound coming from the house.

"I must have looked up after hearing something shortly after, for I saw Mr. Pupkowski hurrying past with blood all over his face.

Warwick followed the man. Pupkowski hurried toward the waterfront by way of Clarence, Niagara and South Turner Streets.

Warwick said he followed the man to Dallas Road, where Pupkowski broke into a run toward the strait.

'I'm Going to Die, Anyway'

Three lads on the beach shouted at him as he ran onto the beach and into the water. He yelled back:

"No, I'm going to die anyway!"

A man on the beach shouted for him to "come out!"

"I want to die," Pupkowski answered.

Pupkowski was clinging to a log, which was anchored to the beach, when police Constables Joseph Barlow and Ian Duncan arrived on the scene.

The two constables walked out on the log, grabbed the man by his arms and pulled him to shore.

Pupkowski was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital, where he was placed under sedatives and held under police guard.

He was later removed from hospital, questioned by detectives and charged with murder.

At the murder scene, Constables Robert Mair and James Baxter were first to arrive.

They found that both the front and back doors to the home were locked.

They entered through a basement door at the rear and found Mrs. Pupkowski lying in a pool of blood near a stove in an upstairs kitchen.

Dr. E. L. McNiven attended and pronounced the woman dead.

The Pupkowski's son, Milo, 8, was away from home at the time.

He was spotted by police as he rode his bicycle during the investigation at the house. He was immediately taken in and cared for by the Children's Aid.

The 80-member White Eagle Polish Association here, to which most Polish-born residents of the city belong, is expected to take steps to help the boy.

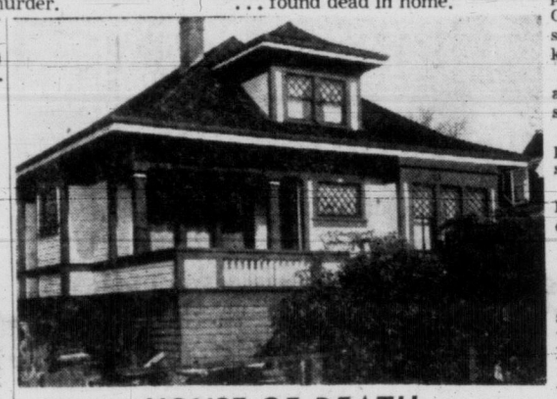
Association President Alex Bednarski said the group would meet "later this week to decide what we can do for him."

The Pupkowskis never belonged to the White Eagle organization, and members knew as little about the couple as their neighbors on Clarence street.

Mrs. Robina McGirr, 80-year-old pensioner, rented a room with the Pupkowskis. She was strolling in nearby Beacon Hill Park when the tragedy occurred.

Mrs. McGirr said the house had always been quiet and peaceful.

Neighbors said the man was quiet and rather unfriendly.



HOUSE OF DEATH

Peaceful-looking home in which Mrs. Cecelia Pupkowski was found dead Saturday was the object of thousands of thrill-seekers over the weekend. "This street has never been so busy," one resident remarked. The house was locked and placed under police check.

3-Nation Talks Open Today

St. Laurent, Mexican President Meet Eisenhower in Virginia

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent arrived here today for the start of conferences with President Eisenhower and President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines of Mexico.

He was accompanied by R. Douglas Stuart, U.S. ambassador to Canada; John Holmes, assistant undersecretary of state for external affairs, and Pierre Asselin, Mr. St. Laurent's private secretary.

External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson left by train Friday for Washington, and will meet the prime minister at White Sulphur Springs. Mr. St. Laurent declined to make a statement on his departure from Ottawa. "Because," he said, "I probably will have something more to say after the meeting."

Netherlands ambassador A. H. J. Lovinghk, Transport Minister George C. Marler, Resources Minister Jean Lesage and members of Mr. St. Laurent's office staff went to the airport to wish Mr. St. Laurent a good trip.

NO AGENDA

Mr. St. Laurent, Mexican President Adolfo Ruix Cortines and Mr. Eisenhower did not bother to work out an agenda for the talks. They have told their respective nations that the two-day session was arranged as a friendly get-together and a chance to chat about current affairs more than as a formal conference.

Mr. St. Laurent changed to a U.S. Government plane at Charleston, W.Va., for the 40-minute flight to White Sulphur Springs.

Arnold Heeney, Canadian Ambassador to Washington, was waiting with Pearson to greet the prime minister. After the talks, Pearson will fly with Heeney to Washington and return to Ottawa on Friday.

Mr. St. Laurent will return to Ottawa immediately after the meeting. He is expected back on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Eisenhower told a press conference last week: "We just want to meet for a chat . . . one evening and the next day. It is not one of those long international conferences."

Political experts generally agreed that one of the topics certain to be discussed would be North American defense, and the progress so far achieved through joint participation.

15 Planes Seeking Lost Jet

A total of 15 aircraft took part in the search today for an RCAF T-33 jet trainer missing from Comox air base since Thursday noon.

Three Lancasters took off from Comox at 7 a.m., and two Expediters, two Dakotas, three Cansos and an Otter left Sea Island base at 9 a.m. An additional two Lancasters and two Expediters left Comox shortly after 9 a.m.

The search has been intensified in the Cortes Island, east of Campbell River, area, since residents confirmed reports by tugboat crews of a "terrific" explosion and "roar like thunder" Thursday noon in the vicinity of the island.

In the plane were FO Gerald Stubbs, formerly of Winnipeg, and FO James Miller, whose parents live in Victoria. FO Stubbs served with the RCAF from 1942 to 1946, then re-enlisted in 1951. His wife and two-year-old daughter live at Comox. They are expecting another child next month.

Operations headquarters in Vancouver said the hunt would continue until the entire area over which the missing plane's fuel supply could have taken it has been covered.

Searching RCAF planes were hampered during the weekend by low cloud and rain, but clearing weather was predicted for most of today and visibility at press time was reported as good.

Ground Observer Corps members of Campbell River are continuing to search through this area on foot, and are maintaining a 24-hour watch for flares or distress signals from the GOC observation post on Campbell River High School.

JORDAN IN ARAB FRONT?

LONDON (UP) — Jordan has linked itself with the Arab "Big Three" military alliance against Israel under a "united frontier" plan with Syria, Middle East dispatches reported today.

The report came as the United Nations security council planned to take up an American proposal for "urgent and early" action in the Mideast, probably by sending secretary-general Dag Hammarskjold on a peace mission to the dangerously tense area.

U.S. to Tell All on Arms If Others Do

LONDON (UP) — The United States proposed today that all nations obligate themselves to give each other advance notice of international movements of their land, sea and air forces.

The American proposal was the third major suggestion put before the United Nations five-power disarmament conference now in session here.

The American plan would require the United States to notify the Soviet Union, for example, before sending any of its bombers abroad to a NATO field. Likewise, the Soviet Union would have to give notice before sending an armored division, say, to Poland or Hungary.

Nations sending out submarines would give notice of where they were headed.

The war traffic control system would clear all information through three or four master communications centres at agreed locations around the world. In these centres, officials of an armaments control system would be able to plot all international movements of armed forces—just as a railroad controller pinpoints positions of trains.

U.S. delegate Harold E. Stassen outlined the latest plan to his colleagues from Britain, the Soviet Union, France and Canada as the conference entered a second and perhaps decisive phase with optimism still high.

WIRE BRIEFS

Nehru Meets Red

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Anastas Mikoyan, Soviet first deputy premier, opened talks here today with Prime Minister Nehru on Russian economic aid for the industrialization of India.

B.C. Cows Get Shots

MILNER, B.C. (BUP) — A compulsory but free campaign of calf vaccination against brucellosis has been announced here by Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan, who envisages a province free of the disease within five years.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A lone bandit robbed the International Bank of Tampa of $88,000 Saturday, the largest bank holdup in Florida history.

Winnipeg Winter Ends

WINNIPEG (CP)—It sure was a long winter. The thermometer crept up to a balmy 41 degrees above zero Sunday, the highest reading in Winnipeg since Nov. 10.

TV Hassle Wounds 2

TORONTO (CP) — Findlay J. Kennedy, 45, of suburban York township Sunday night was charged with wounding his wife and 19-year-old son with a slaughter-house knife in an argument over their television set.

Fire Razes Hotel At Hazelton; 5 Escape

HAZELTON, B.C. (CP)—Five persons fled to safety when a $50,000 fire destroyed the 45-year-old, two-story Hazelton hotel and all contents Sunday night. Damage was estimated at $50,000.

One unidentified guest was forced to jump from a second-story window. The others got out safely through the lobby. No one was injured.

Top Red in Stalin's Town Fired Because Students Played Hookey

MOSCOW (AP)—The chief Communist organizer of Tiflis University in Stalin's native Georgia has been fired for failing to indoctrinate students properly with communism and for not curbing their intense pride in their separate Georgian nationality.

This was disclosed in the March 24 issues of the Tiflis newspaper Dawn on the East which reached Moscow today.

The firing of the university Communist cell's party secretary, S. Djorbenadz, was revealed in an article which also said that the students had indulged in mass cutting of their classes in Marxism-Leninism and dialectical materialism since last September.

The newspaper said the students organized into groups and went to the movies instead of the classes while teachers "lectured in virtually empty auditoriums."

The paper said that since the beginning of 1955 "there were 176 registered cases of students' breaking rules of Socialist order and some of the students were punished and, for instance, 41 students were detained by the police during the first 2½ months of this year."

Tiflis is the birthplace of Stalin, who now is under attack by present Kremlin leaders.

EX-RED SURE REVOLT UNDER WAY IN RUSSIA

WASHINGTON (AP)—A former Soviet intelligence officer says the Russian leaders' denunciation of Stalin is a desperate attempt to retain their power. It indicates, he said, "the revolution has already begun."

Nikolai Khokhlov, who defected to the West in 1954 after 13 years in the Soviet intelligence service, says the 20th congress of the Soviet Communist Party in February "openly and publicly confirmed that dictatorship cannot exist any longer in the Soviet Union."

They Should Have Told Us Stalin Was a Heel, LPP Moans

TORONTO (CP) — Stewart Smith, leader of the Ontario Labor-Progressive Communist party, said today Joseph Stalin would have been condemned "long before this" if Canadian Communists had known the truth about him.

Asked for comment on the denunciation of the former Russian leader at the recent 20th congress of the Russian Communist party, Mr. Smith said he had no doubt the reports were true.

Nikita Khrushchev, the Russian party secretary, told delegates that Stalin had been responsible for mass murders, purges and costly blunders.

The Ontario Communist leader said the charges were a re-evaluation of Stalin as a leader.

"We Communists here didn't know the truth about Stalin before. If we had known we would have condemned some of his tactics before now."

SPLIT BY SWITCH

Local Communists were reported split over the abrupt switch in the party line. Tim Buck, Canadian Communist leader, attended the Russian congress. Communist organizers were said to be waiting for his first-hand account of the meeting.

At the time of Stalin's death, Buck said:

"If the people of Canada realized what they had lost in Stalin, tears would flow in the streets."

New Bid at Ottawa For Coast Guard

OTTAWA (BUP)—A perennial plea for a Canadian coast guard service will got out to the government again today.

Members of parliament have been urging the government to form coast guard services in the Great Lakes and British Columbia for several years.

Ontario Conservative Wallace Nesbitt (PC-Oxford) planned to put in a strong claim for the Great Lakes service when he leads off debate on a resolution to this effect. British Columbia members also were expected to have ample opportunity to mention their own claims while joining in the general debate.

The government has been lukewarm toward forming a coast guard.

Transport Minister George Marler told Nesbitt in one debate that a further review of the matter had been made and it was decided not to establish the service.

Marler said it would cost more than $9 million for the initial capital outlay for coast guard facilities on both coasts and the Great Lakes.

In any case, he said, the air force undertakes basic search and rescue responsibilities, and the navy and such ship-operating department and agencies as transport, fisheries, public works, mines and the RCMP all help in the work.

Top Skaters Charge 'Fixing'

TORONTO (CP) — Frances Dafoe and Norris Bowden of Toronto, the world pairs figure-skating champions for two years, said today Canadian skating officials impeded their chances in international competitions. They placed second in both world and Olympic events this year.

Miss Dafoe, a 26-year-old free-lance artist, criticized Herbert Crispo of Toronto, president of the Canadian Figure Skating Association, for refusing to send a second judge to the Olympic and world skating competitions this year.

She said Crispo "did everything in his power to impede and reduce our chance in Olympic and world competition."

The Toronto couple said world competitions are "fixed." Miss Dafoe said European judges tend to vote in blocs on the skating competitions.

Eight 'Death Row' Killers Favor Hanging to Life in Jail

EDDYVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Eight convicted murderers were asked how they felt about a proposal to abolish capital punishment in Kentucky.

One prisoner, who was in Death Row during a period when 22 men were executed, said: "It isn't pleasant. But some crimes, especially those involving little children, cannot be adequately punished short of death."

Another, who spent five months in Death Row before a new trial resulted in a life sentence, commented: "Just the thought of it (death) will keep a lot of people from committing crimes."

"I don't consider the life sentence severe enough for some crimes," said another admitted killer. "The death penalty prevents a lot of premeditated crimes."

Another prisoner pretty well summed up the sentiments of all on the question of a mandatory life sentence in lieu of death.

"If I were given a sentence like that I'd spend all the time trying to escape," he said. "I'd kill the first prisoner who looked at me crooked. I wouldn't do a lick of work. I'd laugh at the guards. What could I lose?"

All but one of the prisoners questioned are serving life terms which, under Kentucky law, means they may become eligible for parole after serving eight years.

Canadian commies say they'd never have loved Stalin so much if they'd known whut a bounder he wuz. Funny, everybody else in Canada knew.

Thet meeting at White Sulphur Springs ought t' be a nice Spring tonic after th' three chiefs spread a little molasses.

Masked Thugs Clobber Vancouver Watchman

VANCOUVER (BUP) — A 56-year-old Vancouver night watchman is recuperating today from a beating he received Sunday when four masked thugs attacked him with iron bars when he apparently disturbed an attempt to blow a safe in a Vancouver office.

Tom Magri received 21 stitches to close the gaping wounds in his head.

AND AS THEY WERE EATING, Jesus took bread, and blessed it, and brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is my body. And he took the cup, and gave thanks and gave it to them, saying, Drink ye all of it; for this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins. But I say unto you I will not drink henceforth of this fruit of the vine until I drink it new with you in my Father's kingdom.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

ETERNAL GOD, as we remember the steps of Thy Son toward the cross let us know that we cannot keep from Thee any secrets of mind or heart. Help us to be the first to believe, the last to doubt; the first to forgive, the last to blame, in the sure hope of that eternal life which we have known through Jesus Christ. Amen.

Racing at Sidney Starts Sept. 15

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Turf and Ascot Jockey Clubs have signed a two-year agreement on racing dates, subject to approval of the federal and provincial governments.

The agreement, signed here at the weekend, divides 72 days of racing in Vancouver between Lansdowne and Exhibition Parks. The Exhibition Park season opens May 18, and the first day at Lansdowne will be June 8.

On Vancouver Island, the Sidney track, near Victoria, will open Sept. 15 for a 14-day season.

Bank Employees Capture Gunman

TORONTO (CP)—Two employees of a downtown branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce today caught a gunman seconds after a man tried to hold up the bank.

Accountant Allan Scaife and an assistant accountant, Alfred Cooper, said they caught the man in an alley, wrestled him to the ground and held him until police arrived.

CCF Parley at Winnipeg Aug. 1-3

OTTAWA (CP)—The national council of the CCF today announced that the party's 14th national convention will be held in Winnipeg Aug. 1-3.

The convention will be preceded by a meeting of the national council July 30 and 31. The biennial convention of the Co-operative Commonwealth Youth Movement also will be held immediately prior to the CCF convention.

Psychiatrist to Examine Suspect

VANCOUVER (CP)—An examination by a psychiatrist was ordered in police court today for a Vancouver youth charged with murder in a beer parlor knife-slaying Saturday.

Ronald Clifford Dingham, 18-year-old seaman, was remanded to April 3. He is charged in connection with the death of Raymond Thomas Edouard Duchateau, 29, a bank clerk. (See Page 2).

Winnipegger Freed of Murder Count

WINNIPEG (BUP)—A 37-year-old father of two children was freed in Winnipeg today of a charge of having murdered his wife last December.

Michael Sednyk was freed after Mr. Justice Samuel Freedman said the evidence shown at today's preliminary hearing did not prove the Crown contention that there had been violence done to Mrs. Sednyk.

Presidential Train Soft Drinks Probed

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—The Advertiser says at least two women and a man were taken ill after having a bottled soft drink aboard the special railway car that later carried President Eisenhower to the White Sulphur Springs conference.

The incident is being investigated.

St. Laurent At 3-Nation Conference

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent arrived here today for the start of conferences with President Eisenhower and President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines of Mexico.

He was accompanied by R. Douglas Stuart, U.S. ambassador to Canada; John Holmes, assistant undersecretary of state for external affairs, and Pierre Asselin, Mr. St. Laurent's private secretary.

External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson left by train Friday for Washington, and will meet the prime minister at White Sulphur Springs. Mr. St. Laurent declined to make a statement on his departure from Ottawa, "Because," he said, "I probably will have something more to say after the meeting."

NO AGENDA

Mr. St. Laurent, Mexican President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines and Mr. Eisenhower did not bother to work out an agenda for the talks. They have told their respective nations that the two-day session was arranged as a friendly get-together and a chance to chat about current affairs more than as a formal conference.

Mr. St. Laurent will return to Ottawa immediately after the meeting. He is expected back on Wednesday afternoon.

Political experts generally agreed that one of the topics certain to be discussed would be North American defense, and the progress so far achieved through joint participation.

CZESLAW (CHESTER) PUPKOWSKI ... charged with murder.

CECELIA PUPKOWSKI ... found dead in home.

April 3 Hearing For Man Accused Of Slaying Wife

Czeslaw (Chester) Pupkowski, 42, 128 Clarence Street, showed no sign of emotion when he was formally charged in city police court here today with the pocket-knife murder of his 38-year-old wife Saturday afternoon.

The blondish-haired, Polish-speaking immigrant heard the charge through interpreter Eugene Felter. He was represented by lawyer Joseph McKenna.

He stood in the prisoner's docket with hands clasped behind his back.

The charge read he "did unlawfully murder Cecelia Pupkowski." He was remanded until Tuesday, April 3, when date of the preliminary hearing will be set. He is being held in an upstairs cell at city jail, under special guard.

OUT OF HOSPITAL

Pupkowski had been released from an observation ward at St. Joseph's Hospital the day before the killing. He had been admitted for a few days.

City detectives charged Pupkowski at 9.30 p.m. Saturday, seven hours after his wife was found lying in a pool of blood at the family home in James Bay.

She had been beaten about the head and her throat was slit, police said.

Police seized a pocket knife.

Minutes after police arrived at the James Bay home, Pupkowski was pulled from waters off Dallas Road.

PLEADS FOR DEATH

A bystander quoted Pupkowski as saying "shoot me" to one of two officers who pulled him from the water.

Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart has ordered an inquest into the death for Wednesday at 10 a.m. at Thompson Funeral Home, 1625 Quadra.

Police said an autopsy is being performed on the woman's body by Dr. Ross McNeeley.

First hint of the gruesome murder came shortly after 2.45 p.m., when next-door neighbor George Warwick heard loud screams coming from the Pupkowski home.

"I had just opened our garage door when I heard a woman screaming," Warwick said.

"I went in the house and telephoned police. I went back outside and everything was quiet.

"About two minutes later I heard a loud thumping sound coming from the house.

"I must have looked up after hearing something shortly after, for I saw Mr. Pupkowski hurrying past with blood all over his face.

Warwick followed the man. Pupkowski hurried toward the waterfront by way of Clarence, Niagara and South Turner Streets.

Warwick said he followed the man to Dallas Road, where Pupkowski broke into a run toward the strait.

U.S. to Tell All on Arms If Others Do

LONDON (UP) — The United States proposed today that all nations obligate themselves to give each other advance notice of international movements of their land, sea and air forces.

The American proposal was the third major suggestion put before the United Nations five-power disarmament conference now in session here.

The American plan would require the United States to notify the Soviet Union, for example, before sending any of its bombers abroad to a NATO field. Likewise, the Soviet Union would have to give notice before sending an armored division, say, to Poland or Hungary.

Nations sending out submarines would give notice of where they were headed.

The war traffic control system would clear all information through three or four master communications centres at agreed locations around the world. In these centres, officials of an armaments control system would be able to plot all international movements of armed forces—just as a railroad controller pinpoints positions of trains.

U.S. delegate Harold E. Stassen outlined the latest plan to his colleagues from Britain, the Soviet Union, France and Canada as the conference entered a second and perhaps decisive phase with optimism still high.

Top Red in Stalin's Town Fired Because Students Played Hookey

MOSCOW (AP)—The chief Communist organizer of Tiflis University in Stalin's native Georgia has been fired for failing to indoctrinate students properly with communism and for not curbing their intense pride in their separate Georgian nationality.

This was disclosed in the March 24 issues of the Tiflis newspaper Dawn on the East which reached Moscow today.

The firing of the university Communist cell's party secretary, S. Djorbenadz, was revealed in an article which also said that the students had indulged in mass cutting of their classes in Marxism-Leninism and dialectical materialism since last September.

The newspaper said the students organized into groups and went to the movies instead of the classes while teachers "lectured in virtually empty auditoriums."

The paper said that since the beginning of 1955 "there were 176 registered cases of students' breaking rules of Socialist order and some of the students were punished and, for instance, 41 students were detained by the police during the first 2½ months of this year."

Tiflis is the birthplace of Stalin, who now is under attack by present Kremlin leaders.

EX-RED SURE REVOLT UNDER WAY IN RUSSIA

WASHINGTON (AP)—A former Soviet intelligence officer says the Russian leaders' denunciation of Stalin is a desperate attempt to retain their power. It indicates, he said, "the revolution has already begun."

Nikolai Khokhlov, who defected to the West in 1954 after 13 years in the Soviet intelligence service, says the 20th congress of the Soviet Communist Party in February "openly and publicly confirmed that dictatorship cannot exist any longer in the Soviet Union."

They Should Have Told Us Stalin Was a Heel, LPP Moans

TORONTO (CP) — Stewart Smith, leader of the Ontario Labor-Progressive Communist party, said today Joseph Stalin would have been condemned "long before this" if Canadian Communists had known the truth about him.

Asked for comment on the denunciation of the former Russian leader at the recent 20th congress of the Russian Communist party, Mr. Smith said he had no doubt the reports were true.

Nikita Khrushchev, the Russian party secretary, told delegates that Stalin had been responsible for mass murders, purges and costly blunders.

The Ontario Communist leader said the charges were a re-evaluation of Stalin as a leader.

"We Communists here didn't know the truth about Stalin before. If we had known we would have condemned some of his tactics before now."

Local Communists were reported split over the abrupt switch in the party line. Tim Buck, Canadian Communist leader, attended the Russian congress. Communist organizers were said to be waiting for his first-hand account of the meeting.

At the time of Stalin's death, Buck said:

"If the people of Canada realized what they had lost in Stalin, tears would flow in the streets."

Nehru Meets Red

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Anastas Mikoyan, Soviet first deputy premier, opened talks here today with Prime Minister Nehru on Russian economic aid for the industrialization of India.

Canadian commies say they'd never have loved Stalin so much if they'd known whut a bounder he wuz. Funny, everybody else in Canada knew.

Eight 'Death Row' Killers Favor Hanging to Life in Jail

EDDYVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Eight convicted murderers were asked how they felt about a proposal to abolish capital punishment in Kentucky.

One prisoner, who was in Death Row during a period when 22 men were executed, said: "It isn't pleasant. But some crimes, especially those involving little children, cannot be adequately punished short of death."

Another, who spent five months in Death Row before a new trial resulted in a life sentence, commented: "Just the thought of it (death) will keep a lot of people from committing crimes."

"I don't consider the life sentence severe enough for some crimes," said another admitted killer. "The death penalty prevents a lot of premeditated crimes."

Another prisoner pretty well summed up the sentiments of all on the question of a mandatory life sentence in lieu of death.

"If I were given a sentence like that I'd spend all the time trying to escape," he said. "I'd kill the first prisoner who looked at me crooked. I wouldn't do a lick of work. I'd laugh at the guards. What could I lose?"

All but one of the prisoners questioned are serving life terms which, under Kentucky law, means they may become eligible for parole after serving eight years.
